

IT IS not a rash guess that Nevada will rue the day, if it finally passes the proposed wide-open gambling law. Nevada's free divorce laws may not be a thing to be proud of, but they at least do no other harm. They break no families that were not broken already and they bring to Nevada no money that would not be spent on a similar errand somewhere. There are even arguments to be made in favor of having a small refuge somewhere, where man can put easily asunder those whom God has not joined together. But none of these considerations can be applied even in mitigation of gambling. Professional gambling is a criminal business by law nearly everywhere, and it is the breeder of nothing but crime and disaster wherever it is tolerated. Nevada will not find it even profitable to aspire to the distinction hitherto held by Tia Juana.

A WOMAN slapped Kerensky's face, because she thought a military order he once issued had been indirectly responsible for the death of her fiancé, a Russian officer.

A slap for a life was small retribution, and in this case it was misplaced. Kerensky's revolution undid more harm, at less cost of life, than anything else that ever happened in Russia. But if even this small measure were applied to the long tragedy of Russia—one slap for each life—the sum of those slaps would have annihilated every ruler and the whole ruling class of Russia for a thousand years, Czars and boyars, Tatars and Christians, nobles, peasants and workers, revolutionists, anarchists, communists, reformers and reactionaries, all have oppressed and slaughtered each other, worked tyranny and injustice, until laughter and humor, and all saving sense of proportion have gone out of Russian life. In that long perspective of tragedy, one death seems scarcely worth even a slap.

"CHINA owes us four million," says Will Rogers in his incisive wisdom, "and we take over their customs revenues. France owes us four billion, and we are afraid to send them a bill for it. What a great difference in diplomatic relations an army and navy make." That is exactly the lesson China is learning, from the example not particularly of France but of Japan. The Chinese want to respect—respect for their persons and respect for their rights. They look over the whole of Asia and Africa, and observe that the white man grants that respect to the man of other color only in Japan. They inquire why, and conclude that it is not due to any exceptional admiration of the white man for the Japanese. There are Chinese who, in culture and every personal quality, are the equals of any Japanese, and there are Japanese coolies of as humble place in the world as the corresponding Chinese. Yet the Japanese, high and low, are treated by the white man with a decency for which the Chinese often wait in vain. Naturally, they inquire why.

BEING of intelligent and analytic minds, these Chinese observers conclude that the difference in the treatment of the two yellow peoples by the same white man must be due to something different in the peoples themselves. There being no difference in personal quality, it must be in something else. And they find that the Japanese differ from themselves in government, machinery and guns. The Chinese have never regarded these things as important. But if they are the only titles to the white man's respect, evidently they must be made use of, for that purpose. So the Chinese are struggling for a truculent nationalism in government, and are treating the white man with the only thing which, in their experience, they have ever seen him respect. That is force.

THE League of Nations, says Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister, just returning from a session of the Council, is "gathering strength." It is moving slowly, as the British mind prefers all things to move, and as Sir Austen himself, by judicious obstruction, has aided the League to move. But it is moving.

IS IT not about time for American sentiment to do a little moving, also? The League of Nations is no longer merely a document, with words for lawyers to criticize. It is a going concern, through which the rest of the world is acting, on matters which often affect our interests also. It is no longer even a challenge to American membership. Nobody is now proposing that. It is not even an issue, to "do politics" with. Both parties are in a blue funk, if you even mention it. And it ought no longer to be the mere playing of half-truth slogans. It is an actual institution, actually operating, covering most of the world and slowly growing in importance. If we are still afraid of joining it—our politicians are afraid even to mention it—we ought at least to learn to begin to recognize its existence and to reckon with it, as representing its members, and as the channel of activities with which, if not in which, we must often work.

Escaped Leper Is Sought by Police

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—Luis Valasquez, 18, an escaped leper, was being sought by authorities here today following his escape from the General Hospital. Valasquez left a note saying he intended to return to his home in Mexico City.

JUGO SLAVIA WANTS PEACE IN BALKANS

Country Willing to Submit Crisis to League of Nations, Dispatches Assert

SITUATION IS GRAVE

If Foreign Minister Briand Gives Approval, Special Meeting May Be Called

(By United Press)

PARIS, March 21.—Jugo Slavia is willing to submit the Albanian crisis to the League of Nations, dispatches from Belgrade reported today.

Dispatch of an international expeditionary force under league auspices to Albania to maintain peace in that country would be approved by Jugo Slavia, it was understood.

Foreign Minister Peritch, of Jugo Slavia, assured British Minister Kenhard and Italian Minister Bodrero, at Belgrade, that Jugo Slavia would keep the Balkan peace at any price and denied an Albanian revolution plot had been organized in Jugo Slavia territory.

Reports of probable league action arose from the visit of German Ambassador Von Hoesch to the French foreign office, where he conferred with Secretary General Berthelot on Foreign Minister Briand's viewpoint toward league action.

It was believed that if Briand approved, Foreign Minister Stresemann, of Germany, might call a special session of the council of the league to consider the situation.

Official Paris considered the situation grave and it was understood Briand, who was in the country for the week end, planned to intercede in both Belgrade and Rome in an attempt to prevent a rupture. The situation was complicated by the somewhat strained relations between France and Italy, growing out of incidents along the border in the last year. France was known to be sympathetic with Jugo Slavia in her desire to limit Italian influence in the Balkans.

MEXICAN TRAIN IS HELD UP, BURNED

MEXICO CITY, March 21.—A train from Laredo, carrying six Americans and scores of Mexicans, was held up and partly burned near Obregon, state of Guanajuato, Saturday night, it was learned when the train arrived here early today, 18 hours late.

Emilio Garcia, conductor, was shot to death when he got out of the train to beg the assassins not to shoot because of women and children on board.

The band went through the train asking each passenger, "Who lives?" and all answered, "Cristo, Rey," it was said. Then the men announced no one would be robbed. Several reported losing money and jewelry however.

"We are ordered out of the train and three coaches were burned. Train officials said the bandits took 100,000 pesos from the express car.

Newspapers In Shanghai Ordered Closed

HANKOW, March 21.—The Herald, American owned newspaper, and the British owned Post were closed today on order of the general labor union here and censorship of all incoming and outgoing foreign mail was imposed.

The U. S. consul protested closing of The Herald to the Cantonese foreign minister Eugene Chen and an investigation was promised. The consul also protested to Chen against firing on the U. S. gunboat Preble several days ago. Investigation showed southern troops fired on the boat.

Northern troops have fired on the U. S. ship Meifu, it was reported.

LEGAL BATTLE SEEN IMMINENT IN PAVING CASE

Notice of Action Taken on Gas Tax Appropriation Given Auditor

With opinion still divided upon the question whether the proposal to appropriate $10,000 of county gas tax funds for the South Main street paving project in Santa Ana was carried by the majority vote given it by the county supervisors two weeks ago, or was defeated because a four-fifths vote was lacking, it appeared today that the courts would be called upon to settle the issue.

The paving appropriation, once thought killed because it received only a simple majority vote instead of four-fifths, bobbed up again today, when County Auditor W. C. Jerome received from County Clerk J. M. Backs a notice of the board's action on the appropriation. This, it was said, was a routine step in such proceedings, placing the matter before the county auditor, either to pay the $10,000 to the city or to withhold it.

Legal Battle Seen

Since Chairman William Schumacher, of the board of supervisors, has vigorously opposed the appropriation and declared that if Jerome attempted to pay the money under authority of a simple majority vote of the board, he would institute court proceedings to stop it, a legal battle was believed imminent. Jerome is known to hold the opinion that a three-fifths vote of the board, which was the majority given, is all that was required for approval of the appropriation. It was expected, in view of the chairman's statement that Schumacher would press injunction proceedings, in which case the court would be asked to decide whether a three-fifths or a four-fifths vote was needed to authorize the appropriation.

No Bearing On Question

County Clerk Backs passed the order along to the auditor today with the statement that his action was purely routine and had no bearing upon the legal question involved. He had been advised, he said, by District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., that it was his duty to deliver the order, regardless of whether the board's vote approved the appropriation or defeated it.

The district attorney, on his part, declared that he had not and would not express a legal opinion on the question whether a three-fifths or a four-fifths vote was necessary in the case. It was, he said, a matter the courts should decide.

"The two statutes bearing upon the subject are directly in conflict," said West. The section of the motor vehicle act referring to such appropriations is exactly opposed to section 8202 of the general laws, which governs appropriations from all funds. Since both of these sections were amended at the last session of the legislature, it is up to the courts to decide which applies."

Italian Aviator Resumes Flight

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 21.—Francisco De Pinedo, Italian transatlantic aviator, left Manaus today for Para, Brazil. De Pinedo was "lost" several days last week in the state of Mato Grosso, after he reached San Luis De Caceras. Communication was so uncertain in the unexplored area over which the Italian plane traveled that it was impossible to keep accurate account of its movements.

IMPORTANT BILLS FACE LEGISLATURE

Solons Attack Measures in Attempt to Bring About Adjournment April 15

28 PROPOSALS PASSED

Skids Are Reported Well Greased for Governor's Budget of $193,500,000

SACRAMENTO, March 21.—With the realization that this week will show whether adjournment April 15 is possible, members of the California legislature today attacked the mountain of measures before it with renewed effort.

Although the two houses have now entered the fifth week of the second period, they have passed slightly more than one per cent of the bills introduced. That is, out of more than 2000 bills, only 28 have been passed. Of these, Governor Young has signed 25 and vetoed one.

The most important problems before the body this week are:

Governor Young's $193,500,000 biennial budget.

Senator Arthur H. Breed's gasoline tax and highway measures.

Revision of criminal law and procedure.

Water conservation.

Skids Well Greased

The skids are well greased for the administration budget, according to leaders of both houses. The present budget, pronounced the most carefully prepared and comprehensive document of its kind ever presented, will have little opposition.

As the bills increasing the gasoline tax to three cents a gallon and specifying how the tax money shall be spent on "primary" and "secondary" state highways are awaiting adoption of the budget, they will be out of the way at an early date.

More than half the criminal revision bills are before the legislature and are being adopted with little opposition. Ten more are on the senate file for passage this week, according to Senator C. C. Baker, of Salina, who introduced all the crime bills.

A public hearing has been set for Tuesday night on the proposed constitutional amendment giving the full control over its surplus flood waters, offsetting the now famous Herminghaus decision, which delegates full ownership to riparian water right holders.

Insurance men will have opportunity to turn loose their verbal barrage against Senator Sanborn Young's compulsory automobile insurance measure Wednesday night, when a public hearing will be held by the insurance committee in the senate chambers.

This dispute, hailed by many as "the battle of the season," because of the strong insurance lobby allied against the measure, is expected to attract a large audience.

The "search and seizure" bills of Assemblyman William B. Hornblower, of San Francisco, who aims to make California's "little federal law" conform with the federal statute by tightening up the privilege of dry officers to search and seize without warrants, will come before the assembly judiciary committee tonight. Dry forces, headed by Ben Geis, of the Anti-Saloon league, are expected to make a bitter stand against favorable recommendation of the measure.

If the budget and Breed bills are adopted early in the week, the legislature will then attack the major issues of reapportionment, community property, farm product standardization and criminal revision laws, and adjournment April 15 will be more than a possibility.

U. S. INTERVENTION IN CHINA FOR AMERICANS' PROTECTION

1500 Marines Are Landed At Declaration of 'State of Emergency'

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The United States has intervened in the Chinese civil war situation to protect 5000 American citizens endangered in Shanghai.

The intervention is non-political and it does not in any way extend to the Chinese internal situation. The American marines will protect American lives and property only. After weeks of watchful waiting, 1500 U. S. marines were landed in the international settlement of that city today, with orders to protect their compatriots and American property at any cost.

Officials here, commenting on the report of the landing, sent by Adm. C. S. Williams, explained that this emergency action was taken upon appeal of the American consul general at Shanghai, following declaration of a "state of emergency" by the Shanghai municipal council.

An American is chairman of the council.

The American force will be supplemented from the reserve force now in the harbor if necessary. It will co-operate fully with British and other foreign troops, officials said.

FORD WINS COURT CLASH ON 'JEWRY'

DETROIT, Mich., March 21.—Henry Ford won at least a temporary victory on the Jewish issue in the Ford-Sapiro libel suit today.

After three hours of argument on the Jewish question, William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent, was recalled to the witness stand and objection to the question as to how the attacks on Sapiro in the Independent had been part of the original campaign of the Independent against the Jews, which had precipitated the argument, was sustained.

The court refrained from laying down any general policy, however, and apparently the issue remained open to be ruled upon as each bit of evidence is offered.

Mistrial Declared In Furniture Case

CHICAGO, March 21.—Trial of 79 furniture manufacturing corporations and 57 individuals, officers of the corporations, on charges that they violated Sherman anti-trust law by fixing furniture prices, was declared a mistrial here today after jurors had debated the verdict for 95 hours. Federal Judge George A. Carpenter dismissed the jurors, who had listened to evidence for two months, when it became evident they could not reach an agreement.

Two L. A. Blazes Are Under Probe

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—An investigation into two fires, which destroyed two buildings and 25 automobiles, at a damage estimated at $100,000, and caused serious injury to a fireman, was under way here today, following the arrest of a suspect.

Flames broke out in the McKenney Candy company late last night and firemen were summoned to fight another fire in the Ballinger garage at the same time.

When he was struck by a falling timber at the garage fire, Ralph Kenney, fireman, received possibly fatal injuries.

HEARING RECESSED

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The U. S. supreme court recessed its hearing of arguments today until April 11. The three weeks will be spent in deciding pending cases and writing opinions.

1500 TROOPS STATIONED IN SEIZED CITY

NATIVE PORTION OF COMMUNITY IS SCENE OF RIOTING SINCE CANTONESE CAPTURE

TURMOIL AND DEATH

U. S. Soldiers Landed with Orders to Protect American's Lives, Property

SHANGHAI, March 22.—Casualties on the first day of the Cantonese occupation of Shanghai totaled 14 foreigners and 200 Chinese. One Punjabi British soldier was killed and four Punjabi were wounded. Four white British soldiers were wounded. One Sikh, British Indian policeman, three special policemen and one Japanese were wounded.

(By United Press)

SHANGHAI, March 21.—U. S. marines were billeted in Shanghai tonight, ready to cope with any situation resulting from the capture of the native section of the city by the Cantonese Nationalists.

The 1500 American marines were divided into eight units, three of which were stationed in western districts of the settlement and five in the Yangtze-Poo area. Patrols were guarding the power plant in the Yangtze-Poo area.

"Tell the folks at home that we are on the job," Colonel Hill, commanding the marine unit, told the United Press tonight.

"We are happy that we are landed and we are eager and ready to do our utmost to protect Americans."

Shanghai, the native portion of which was captured today by Cantonese troops, was the scene of widespread rioting this afternoon, with incendiary mobs of strikers joining Nationalist soldiers in victorious glees.

Fire, turmoil and death followed the Canton troops into the native city, while foreign soldiers and sailors, including U. S. marines, guarded a tense foreign settlement from invasion.

Cantonese soldiers killed one British Punjabi soldier and wounded another on the north Szechuen road, outside the foreign settlement, but on settlement property.

Native police fired on mobs which burned one police station, captured five others and were repulsed when they attacked two more.

General Strike Declared

A general strike was declared an hour after the southerners took over the city and a state of emergency was proclaimed soon afterward.

Countless thousands of Chinese filled in the streets this afternoon. Business was stopped. From the fringe of the city came the rattling sound of rifle fire. Street cars and buses were motionless and instead of the careless chatter of ordinary life, the city was pervaded by the subdued, moaning sound which came from the shuffling, babbling thousands of Chinese who overthrew the city in all directions.

The general strike was effective. Cotton mills were closed and it was estimated that 100,000 workers had left their jobs to celebrate the occasion.

Nationalist flags fluttered on all sides today, except at the north station, where sporadic firing indicated some sort of resistance to the gray clad invaders from the south. The French concession was guarded behind barb wire defenses. Students, carrying Cantonese flags, paraded through the French area, but were not molested.

Guerrilla pot shots from the Chinese city kept the foreign community awake to the danger of the situation. L. Lopez, a Spaniard, was fired on and his automobile killed, but he replied with revolver fire and escaped injury. A Japanese civilian was wounded today.

Armored cars sped through streets which normally bear the traffic of business and Shanghai today took on the aspect of a beleaguered city. The Shanghai volunteers, including clerks and heads of business, took to the streets, armed with shotguns and long rifles, outlying districts alongside regular policemen. Young and old men responded to the summons to guard duty.

Advise All to Stay Indoors

The municipal council issued a proclamation advising all citizens to remain indoors.

U. S. marines, heretofore kept aboard warships except for brief marches through Shanghai, were landed in force early in the afternoon and joined British, French, Japanese, Spanish and Italian troops in guarding the settlement, which was protected by barbed wire entanglements, pointed stockades and sandbag breastworks.

Volunteers were called out to help defend the settlement.

The capture of Shanghai came suddenly at 11 a. m. Even after the northern defense crumbled at Sun-kiang, Saturday, it was not believed the southerners could capture

WEEPAH GOLD CAMP IS FAST BECOMING CITY

Hotel with 30 Cots Opened And Fire Department Organized

(By United Press)

TONOPAH, Nev., March 21.—Weepah, scene of Nevada's greatest gold strike in years, opened a hotel and organized a fire department today. What two weeks ago was a desert resting spot, with one or two frame shacks in evidence, fast is becoming a city.

The Weepah hotel, with a big sign heralding the fact, was thrown open to the public its 30 cots were almost immediately rented at $4 per night.

The fire department was organized, but there is no water system and no fire apparatus to use. A public subscription list was started to remedy this situation.

Three days ago, Weepah was a village of flapping rags. Today half the tents that went to make up the camp had disappeared and frame structures had taken their places.

Sunday brought more visitors to Weepah than any previous day in the camp's history. The traffic situation became so serious that the service of half a dozen volunteer traffic officers was necessary to straighten out the tangle of automobiles.

Weepah's first automobile accident occurred Sunday, too, when three Tonopah boys overturned in a cut down flivver just outside camp. One was seriously burned when the gasoline tank exploded.

While actual mining operations have commenced at some of the holdings, Weepah's business activities are increasing hourly. Besides the gambling hall and dance resorts, the camp today boasts two grocery stores, a shoe shop, a dozen or more sandwich stands, a photograph gallery and a public stenographer.

Representatives of a San Francisco commercial aviation firm arrived today and completed arrangements for a landing field. Air service will be inaugurated within a week, they said.

$50,000 Damage In Planing Mill Fire

VAN NUYS, March 21.—The Van Nuys planing mill was in ruins today, following a fire which swept through the plant yesterday, causing $50,000 damage. The blaze is believed to have started in an incinerator and spread to the storage sheds, offices and planing mill.

CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION IS SPLIT BY ENDORSEMENT OF CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATES

Although no members of the executive committee of the Citizens' Association were present, a meeting, defined as one where "the best of harmony prevailed," was held by the Lucian Sweet, S. J. Jackman and ten or a dozen others of the political organization, Saturday, at 306 1/2 East Fourth street, at which four candidates for the city council and one candidate for city treasurer were endorsed by a vote of those present, according to a report made by Sweet himself.

That a rift has occurred in the association was learned today when it was stated that C. B. Munro, Geo. Munro, L. D. Mercereau and Chas. Heinrich, four of the five members of the executive committee, were not invited to the meeting.

Two members of the executive committee say that the meeting was held contrary to the by-laws of the organization, which specifically state that the officers of the association will be given three days notice before each meeting.

The outstanding feature of the meeting was the refusal of those present to endorse any candidate from the second ward. Instead, a motion was made and carried that a committee be appointed to find a candidate in this ward to make the race in the name of the association.

The report of the meeting indicated that those present want as a candidate from this ward, "a rancher who was known to be a successful one, to make the race in the second ward."

In the first ward, the association endorsed Frank Ey, one of the latest candidates to file papers. The other candidates endorsed were: Third ward, G. G. Latimer; Fourth ward, W. J. Kelly; Fifth ward, Joseph Dismukes; City Treasurer, Margaret Esau.

The committee whose duty it will be to find a candidate from the second ward before noon tomorrow, when the time for taking out and filing nomination papers expires, was named and is composed of S. J. Jackman, L. A. Sweet, E. L. Tiede and Mr. Huson.

With the announcement that a meeting had been held by the "association," protests were heard from members of the executive committee of the organization, who today are scoffing at the assertions that the meeting represented the association.

"They had no right whatsoever to stage the meeting and endorse the candidates," stated Charles Heinrich, one member of the executive committee. "The executive committee was appointed by the members and has full power. Our duty was to go out in our various wards, learn who the people wanted to represent them in these wards and report back to a meeting of all wards. We have never reported back and the fact that a meeting was held without a single one of the members of the executive committee being present, makes it all a farce," he said today.

Heinrich pointed out the fact that the by-laws of the organization clearly state that the executive committee should pick the candidates to be placed in nomination before the organization as a whole.

Both members of the committee stated that they would call a meeting of the "real" association within the next few days to determine the candidates the association would back in the coming elections.

Regarding the second ward candidate, Munro had already announced that as far as he was concerned, he would favor Stanley Goode in his fight for election to the city council.

Two of the candidates endorsed by the members present at the meeting Saturday, Kelly and Latimer, have not filed their papers of nomination and so far are not candidates.

It also was decided at the meeting that no action be taken by the association in the races for city marshal, but members went on record as favoring a move to put a full slate of candidates in the field before the time expired tomorrow.

21 KILLED, 58 HURT IN COAST TRAGEDIES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Tragedy dealt a heavy blow over the week end, taking a toll of 21 dead and 58 injured up and down the coast, a United Press check-up showed today. With one exception it was the heaviest week-end death toll of the year.

With thousands of motorists out on the highways to take advantage of the prevailing balmy spring weather, automobiles proved the chief contributor in the death dealing. Ten lives were lost through automobile mishaps.

Two men, Raymond Schubert, 24, and Avery Robertson, 27, were critically wounded in San Francisco, when Policeman Frank Parker, whom witnesses alleged "appeared to be intoxicated," opened fire on them. Both the victims were unarmed. The officer thought they were bandits.

A machine plunged 175 feet over an embankment in Oregon and its three occupants were killed. A street beggar killed a pedestrian who refused to give him alms. A man fell out of a tree and was killed. A woman was taking driving lessons and ran her machine on the sidewalk killing a woman pedestrian. A boy, 8, was drowned attempting to rescue his little brother.

Diaz Election Aid Denied by Dennis

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Lawrence Dennis, former American charge d'affaires to Nicaragua, today denied published reports that he received instructions from the state department last fall to work for the election of President Diaz.

Dennis saw Secretary Kellogg and other department officials today. He declined to comment on the report that in offering his resignation he charged wealth and social position influenced promotions and appointments in the foreign service.

U. S. MARINES PROTECT LIVES OF AMERICANS

this rich seaport within three days. But the heart was out of the Chang Chung Chang troops, defending the city, and with only desultory resistance they dropped back mile by mile all day Sunday before the advancing Nationalists.

Foreign Settlement Tense
Through the warm moonlit night, the sound of rifle fire kept the foreign settlement awake and tense.

Even this morning, with the guns sounding closer and closer, it was not believed the city would fall before tomorrow.

U. S. marines, in full kits, carrying arms and wearing metal helmets, paraded the settlement shortly after 10 o'clock to give confidence to the foreign residents. Then the marines returned to their ship.

But as the rifle fire grew louder it also grew more desultory. Tired northern soldiers began to stream into the city, selling their arms for a few cents to buy food. Cantonese agents, it was noted, were buying most firearms.

At 11 o'clock, the last resistance faded, the sound of guns stopped and, with dramatic suddenness, the gray clad Cantonese marched into the city and took possession.

There was no fighting as the Cantonese entered the city. The main body of defense troops evacuated, leaving stragglers behind.

Think Agreement Reached
The complete collapse of the Shanghai defense led observers to believe an agreement might have been reached with the northern leaders. Rumors of a truce, which had circulated throughout the morning, added to the belief.

From the time Sunkiang fell, discipline and direction were gone from the foreign troops. It was a rabble that defended the city and rabble with no heart in its fighting. Occasional warm skirmishes were reported at bridges and suburban villages, but for the most part the Cantonese advanced steadily, firing occasionally as they marched and the northerners fired perfunctorily, and fell back mile by mile.

GENERAL BUTLER ARRIVES IN TOKIO

TOKIO, March 21.—Gen. Smedley Butler arrived today aboard the U. S. S. Pierce, enroute to Shanghai, where he will command the U. S. marine contingent which was landed there this morning.

MARINES LANDED AT CONSUL'S REQUEST

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Reporting today to the navy department on landing of American marines at Shanghai, Adm. C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, said this had been undertaken at the request of the American consul general and as a result of the Shanghai municipal council declaration of a "state of emergency" in Shanghai. About 1500 marines were landed for protection of American lives and property, the message said, adding that Col. C. S. Hill, U. S. M. C., was in command.

Naval men here interpreted the message as a distinct "landing"—not for parade purposes—thus ending the period of watchful waiting the marines have indulged in since arriving in Chinese waters.

It was emphasized that the marines are to be used solely for protection of American lives and property, as this government has promised the Chinese in the past.

Shanghai advices to the United Press reported a marines' parade today in war kit, adding that the marines returned aboard ship afterward.

ERIVAN, Armenia—March 21.—A solitary monk inhabits the ancient city of Ani, which was the capital of the kings of Armenia about a thousand years ago. He guards the ruins of the palace. An expedition of Russian archaeologists has started operations there.

NEW RULER OF DESERT TRIBES GIVEN RESPECT

LONDON, March 21.—Ibn Saud, "Pussfoot Johnson" of Arabia, hater of wine and tobacco, Moslem of deeply Puritan instincts, is at present one of the most interesting and most important men in the world for the whiskey-drinking, tobacco-loving men who rule the destinies of the British empire.

Three years ago Saud was the almost negligible ruler of 250,000 Arabs in the little desert state of Nejd. Today, as a virtually unchallenged ruler of the vast Arabian peninsula, British diplomats are getting ready to talk to him in their silkkest accents.

It's the most amazing transition in recent world history: in some aspects, far more spectacular than the crumbling of the Austro-Hungarian empire or Mussolini's rise to power. For the first time in all history one man's word is law for all Arabia. The first time this occurred was when the camel driver, Mohammed, in the seventh century, swept over the peninsula with his fanatic followers. In the 18th century there came a Moslem Luther in the person of a shepherd, Abdul Wahhab, who founded what is still known as the Wahabi sect. His followers ruled Arabia until the Turks broke their power in 1918. Since then Wahabi emirs have ruled at Nejd.

Aroused Saud's Ire
After the great war, the British set up as King of the Hedjaz their own Arabian puppet, Hussein. He was important, because, in his kingdom were Mecca, Medina and Jeddah. But in 1924, angered by the laxity of the faith of the Hedjaz Moslems and by their close contact with Europeans, Ibn Saud with his horse breeders, camel drivers and small farmers declared war on Hussein and beat him all along the line, although Hussein was plentifully supplied with modern arms and with expert advice by the British. In less than a year, Ibn Saud was master of the Holy cities and had compelled Hussein to abdicate the throne and the caliphate.

In defiance of the western powers, Ibn Saud made himself sovereign of the Hedjaz. This man at 60, whose youth had been passed in exile, by conquest, by absorption, by voluntary allegiance on the part of powerful sheikhs, and by treaties, has now become master of Arabia. His realm touches upon the British mandatory spheres of Iraq and Transjordan. His control of the holy cities interests the many millions of Moslem subjects of the British empire. His possession of Jeddah touches the pocketbook nerve of British traders.

Which is why some of the most skillful negotiators connected with the British foreign office—and there are none better in the world—are taking the first steps to conclude a formal and solemn pact of friendship with Ibn Saud and to revise former treaties made with him when he was only boss of Nejd.

Prolonged Palavers
But the palavers will be long and tedious. Ibn Saud will have to act with due consideration for the feelings of his best soldiers. These stern Puritans not only hate all the more lax Moslem sects, but have a deep-rooted suspicion of the motives of all foreigners, particularly European Christians. These men have even gone so far as to propose that Arabia be closed to all non-Moslems.

If carried out, this would mean that Moslems would have to replace the European consuls and merchants at Jeddah and similar ports.

SAN JUAN INN IS HIT BY MOTOR BUS

Workmen are today repairing the front of the San Juan Inn, at San Juan Capistrano, following the entrance of an uninvited guest in the form of a motor bus, which crashed into the building Saturday night.

Although there were some 30 persons on the bus at the time of the accident, no one was reported injured. Diners were given a scare and some coffee was spilled. The driver of the bus told Joe Clever, state traffic officer, of San Juan Capistrano, that brakes on the bus had failed to hold when he made an attempt to park, and the heavy machine crashed into the building.

Spring Here Is Improvement On Perfection

Spring officially came today, with music in its heart and on dancing feet.

Outside of the fact that the calendar denotes it, there were very few visible signs of the occasion, inasmuch as the weather, with the exception of the week end, has been bang-up balmy for sometime.

Several of the more brave of the citizens ventured forth with straw derbies, but the official date for the inauguration of the hay hat season has not been announced as yet.

The birdies of tra-la-la fame have been singing their matins and their nocturnes for some weeks, so spring is nothing new to them.

Spring to Southern California is just another of those things. It is just an improvement on a previous atmospheric condition that was perfectly satisfactory.

But anyway, today was the first day of spring. Bring on your poets.

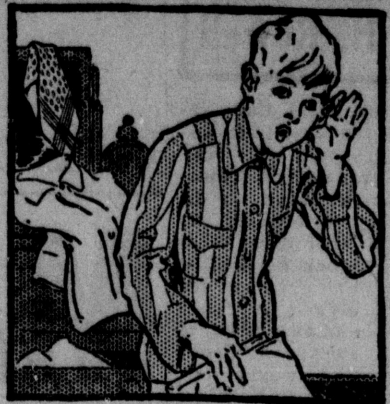

Edward Browning Wins Separation

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 21.—Edward West Browning, 52-year-old millionaire, today won separation from Frances (Peaches) Heenan, the girl 36 years his junior, whom he married less than a year ago.

The decision of Supreme Court Justice A. H. Seeger, before whom the sensational trial was held, was filed in the Westchester county court.

Justice Seeger dismissed Mrs. Browning's claim and awarded Browning an absolute separation.

Mrs. Browning was given no alimony and her cross complaint against Browning was dismissed.

PHILIP GOODWIN IS PLACED UNDER SEVERE CROSS FIRE
BY ATTORNEYS FOR GAINES

Having hurled his bombshell of accusation into the camp of his co-defendant, the Rev. Philip A. Goodwin today held off the counter-attack of Albert D. Gaines' attorneys, who hacked away at the priest's testimony in a grilling cross-examination, attempting to break down the damning story he told on the witness stand Friday, when he denounced Gaines as the slayer of Joseph Patterson.

The clash between the priest and the Gaines' lawyers was sharp but brief. Court observers agreed that the priest emerged in front.
At any rate, after less than hour with him, the defense dropped the witness, whose story had not been shaken in any particular, it appeared.

The cross-examination confined itself chiefly to questions regarding the "Samuel Reader" checks and certain bank deposits made by the priest with checks forged on Patterson's bank account and with forged oil stock certificates, just before the broker's murder. Goodwin stuck to his story that he received the checks and the oil stock from Gaines. He said he had deposited the Reader checks in an account under that name, so that Gaines would have had money available if needed in an emergency. He reiterated his earlier testimony that he had deposited the proceeds of the oil stock in his own name, when Gaines was with him, because Gaines had agreed to lend him the money to finance a play the priest was preparing.

The Gaines' attorneys barely touched on the sensational testimony of the priest that, in two jail conversations with Gaines, the latter had admitted killing Patterson and promised that he would protect the priest from the death sentence. After several questions on this matter, the defense announced that it was through with the witness. Goodwin was ushered back to jail, where he was, for the first time since his return, allowed to receive visitors.

The crowd that jammed the court-room today was as large as that which greeted the returned priest Friday.

The prosecution today announced that it would complete its case today. Milton Carlson, handwriting expert, was recalled to the stand when Goodwin completed his testimony.

GARDEN GROVE MAN
FLEEDED OF $1200

Two men, posing as eye doctors, fleeed Alexander P. Stephens, farmer of Garden Grove, out of $1200, according to a report
Stephens made to the Los Angeles police Saturday. The identity of the two men has not been learned by officers, according to a report received from Los Angeles today.

Stephens, in a visit to Los Angeles, met the two men on the street and was engaged in conversation with them. They told him they were eye doctors from Denver. Stephens' wife had been suffering from eye affliction.

The report to the Los Angeles police intimated that Stephens then took the two men to his home, where his wife's eyes were examined. They informed him that they would operate for $1200.
Stephens paid the money in cash and the two men departed. They have not been heard from since that time, Stephens reported.

PETITIONS CAN BE WITHDRAWN SAYS SWANNER

Men who have filed nomination petitions for various city offices may withdraw their petitions any time before the ballots have been printed, according to a statement today by Charles D. Swanner, city attorney.

The announcement was made in connection with the request of R. R. Smith, candidate for the board of education, for permission to withdraw his petition.

Smith has changed his mind and this morning definitely decided that he would not attempt the race for election to the board. The right to withdraw was questioned by City Clerk Ed Vegely and the matter was referred to the city attorney. Investigations by Swanner revealed that the supreme court had ruled that a person may withdraw a petition any time before the ballots for an election have been printed.

Swanner also pointed out that a candidate for any office with an annual salary of $600 or less may withdraw without the penalty of forfeiting his filing fee. Candidates for offices which pay in excess of this amount lose the fee deposited. The filing fee is $10.

Smith was president of the board for the 1914-19 term. He said today that he was withdrawing from the race because there seems to be plenty of men who are willing to serve the city in this capacity, and that he had originally taken out his petition merely as a courtesy to neighbors and friends who insisted that he make the race. At that time, he said, the situation pointed to a dearth of candidates.

The time for filing nomination petitions expires at 12 m., tomorrow.

LAGUNA BEACH CARPENTER IS FATALLY HURT

Robert W. Towell, 35, a carpenter of Laguna Beach, died in the Orange County hospital yesterday as the result of an automobile accident on the Laguna-Newport highway Saturday evening, when his car collided with one said to have been driven by John Boyd, of Costa Mesa.

Albert Duarte, a Laguna fisherman, who was riding with Towell in the latter's small roadster, and Boyd were not injured. The Towell machine was going east at the time of the accident. It is reported that Boyd, going west, in attempting to get around another machine, ran his car into Towell's automobile.

Both machines were badly damaged in the crash. A motor stage, following behind Towell, conveyed the injured man to the hospital, where he was given emergency treatment. Towell had a deep hole in his head and a broken arm. The body is at Winbiger's funeral parlors. The deceased is survived by a brother, Ogden Towell, of Inglewood, and a sister, Miss Mabel Towell, of Orange, New Jersey.

An inquest was scheduled to be held today by Coroner Charles Brown.

WOMAN SOUGHT FOR PLACE ON SCHOOL BOARD

With but one day remaining for filing nomination petitions by candidates for the Santa Ana city board of education, efforts were being made today in certain women circles to secure a woman candidate for the school board, inquiries revealed.

The desirability of having a qualified woman serving on the school board has been discussed from time to time in Parent-Teacher circles. It was disclosed. According to a general practice in other localities, the woman member of a city school board is generally made the chairman of the teachers' committee, for which position on account of close contact with women teachers, she is particularly well fitted. Such an arrangement, it was pointed out, gives the teachers in charge of girls in the adolescent age an opportunity to discuss particular problems with a board member.

Several members were mentioned today as possible candidates for the board and it was intimated that every effort will be made to secure the nomination of at least one woman candidate.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Napier of 215 South Broadway have gone to Huntington Park to reside for a time, Mr. Napier being employed on the Daily Signal in that city.

Dr. Magill will be accompanied by her sister, Miss Julia Magill. Dr. Magill and Dr. Lynch were classmates and graduates at the Los Angeles Osteopathic college. The office is located at 20 Rue de la Paix. Dr. Gray was in France during the war, spending a year in child welfare work, after which she opened her office. TRACHOMA IS UNDER CONTROL PRESSON SAYS Satisfactory progress in handling the trachoma situation in the county with prospects of having it completely under control and partially eliminated in certain sections before the opening of the school next September, was reported today by Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer.

According to Dr. Presson there has been a marked improvement in the situation at La Habra where it has been possible to release a number of children from the isolation school rooms. This improvement, Dr. Presson declared, is due to the efficient services of Miss Gretha Clark, the county health nurse, who, following the outbreak in that community, was detailed there for temporary duty, and the intelligent co-operation rendered by the school authorities and by the social welfare workers employed by the citrus associations.

Equally encouraging are the reports from other parts of the county, and it is expected that before long the present epidemic of insidious eye disease will be reduced to a few isolated cases, the health official explained.

Some Folks Value Their Automobiles More Than Their Health

At least it seems so. It is strange, but true, that many men who have a spark plug miss fire, or some other trivial thing go wrong with a car will take it to a garage, ask for the master mechanic or an expert. He is told to find the trouble and fix it. He demands service and gets it. And because the garage is on a "cash basis" he pays his bill and goes on his way.

This happens every day and hundreds of the same men have a physician's bill of long standing. Why is it that so many people will pay the plumber promptly for fixing a broken pipe—yet they allow their physician to go unpaid for months after he has fixed a broken arm or leg?

Why is it that men who will pay a lawyer a substantial sum for making out a paper will allow their physician who diagnoses and prescribes for their illness so that they can be physically fit to keep busy, to go unpaid for months?

Treat your physician fairly. He serves when you most need service. He comes when the bravest are worried and frightened, he comes at any hour regardless of the inconvenience. He comes day or night. He leaves his meals, a warm bed, a family gathering; he leaves them because he is serving an ideal. It is the physician who renders the greatest service. It is your physician who is first entitled to your consideration. Pay him promptly—If you can't pay cash at least pay the first of each month.

Every physician is entitled to fair play. The man you expect to rush to you in time of need is not the man to place last on the list when you are paying your bills. Why not send your physician a check today?

Three Guest Groups Enjoy Hospitality Of Smart Home

The home of Mrs. William S. Smart at 714 North Main street, was the scene of a succession of pleasant social gatherings last week, for not only did Mrs. Smart entertain on one evening, but her daughter, Miss Mary Smart, greeted the members of her bridge club at a dinner on a second evening and as a final party, Miss Margaret King entertained her bridge club and one or two guests.

Eastern Guest Honored
Mrs. Smart's hospitality took the form of a dinner party which complimented Mrs. Lapsley of Pittsburgh, a guest in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. McPeak, 216 Orange avenue. Mrs. Lapsley will bring her visit to a conclusion soon, returning to her eastern home, and the dinner was one of the farewell courtesies for her.

Spring flowers added their fragrant loveliness to the quiet charm of the home, and graceful sprays of stock in tones of rose and orchid, adorned the dinner table where name cards were written for the hostess, Mrs. Smart. Dr. and Mrs. McPeak and their guest, Mrs. Lapsley, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hogue, Mrs. John McFadden, Miss Lula Finley, Miss Mabel McFadden, Miss Helen McPeak and Miss Rebecca McPeak.

Miss Mary Smart and Miss Margaret King served the appetizing dinner menu, after which the evening was given over to friendly conversation.

Friendly Dinner Party
On the succeeding evening, the home was again the scene of a dinner party, but this time, Miss Smart was hostess, and the guests were members of the bridge club to which she belongs. They had one of their usual lively sessions, interest being intensified by the delectable dinner menu served by Mrs. Smart.

The usual bridge was foregone for the occasion, the guests preferring to devote the evening to chat and gaiety. The club numbers among its members, in addition to the hostess, Miss Smart, the Misses Louise Kaiser, Mayme Brightwell, Susanne Claycomb, Effie Douglas, Lee Patton, Marcia Babbitt, Mabel Larrick, Pearl Nicholson, Alice Wacker, Elva Boyd and Mrs. Italy Lee.

On Saturday evening, Mrs. Margaret King (a member of the household at 714 North Main street, where she makes her home) and Miss Elizabeth Newlands took their turn at entertaining, and welcomed the members of their bridge club and a few guests.

The home was gay with flowers and hospitality, Mrs. Smart remaining during the early evening, to extend her gracious greeting to the guests, withdrawing later to seek her own room.

Bridge was introduced, and the session yielded first honors to Miss Marie Foldes, a guest of the evening, who was presented with a box of daintily arranged bath salts, while a fancy powder puff consorted Miss Janey Wilde. In the dainty supper served, the hostesses deferred to the current holiday by using St. Patrick's own color in their decorative appointments, including nut cups and favors, and in the shamrock sandwiches which accompanied the salad course.

The remainder of the evening was given over to the lively chat which is the club's bid to fame rather than an ability to play bridge. During this interval, plans were made for other gatherings, and for a boat trip to San Diego in the near future.

Enjoying the evening with Miss Newlands and Miss King, were Miss Janey Wilde, Miss Kathleen Owens, Miss Helen Cramer of Orange, Miss Mary Smart, Miss Marie Foldes, Miss Cora Herscher, Mrs. Bruce Switzer and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott.

Ebell Society

New Section Formed
Since the project of Ebell society is dearer to the hearts of its members than the Day Nursery, establishment of a day nursery section has aroused the interest of the members to a marked extent. The plan has been under way for several weeks, and its accomplishment was concluded last Friday when the first regular meeting was held in the clubhouse with election of officers in interest.

Selection of Mrs. T. D. Knights as leader, met with the approval of everyone, for Mrs. Knights' interest and capacity for leadership are understood by her friends. Equally well advised as the choice of Mrs. Clyde A. Bach as secretary-treasurer.

Excellent progress at this first meeting, was noted in regular phases of work than election, for 40 garments were remodeled, or made into other articles of wearing apparel, to be sold from the nursery store room. In addition was an interesting program in which Mrs. George W. Duncan read a paper describing the workings of a day nursery in Long Beach and Mrs. E. B. Sprague gave an account of another in Honolulu in connection with a pineapple cannery.

The day nursery section will be an open one and Mrs. Knights and her sister-members hope for a large number of clubwomen to join them.

LACONIA CATCHES FOX

FLORIAN, N. H., March 21.—A handsome silver fox was being crossed by the ice of Lake Winnepesaukee by Percy Derusha and Addison Sargent. Sargent gave chase in his flivver, exhausted the animal in fifteen minutes, drove it toward Derusha, who shot it with a rifle.

Wedding Anniversary Is Celebrated at Bridge Party

Adding to the pleasure of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McConnell, of 905 South Sycamore street, was the presence of a score of friends who assembled at the home Friday night to celebrate the happy occasion.

Mrs. McConnell had bridge tables in readiness and the game attracted the usual fascinations. It also offered victory to Mrs. C. E. Moore, Mrs. Albert Muller, James Vinson and Neal Beisel, each of whom received an attractive prize for special scores.

Instead of serving her appetizing supper menu at the bridge tables, Mrs. McConnell arranged one long table extending through dining and living rooms, decking it with tall green tapers, daffodils and green carnations, pretty St. Patrick nut cups and favors.

While she was preparing to serve, the guests were entertained by a mock wedding in which the part of the minister was taken by Judson Sutherland, James Tarpley was the bridegroom and Mrs. Muller was the blushing bride.

In honor of the anniversary, the guests joined in presenting Mr. and Mrs. McConnell with a handsome vegetable dish and tray in sterling silver.

Those enjoying the opportunity of celebrating the occasion with the hosts, were Messrs. and Mesdames Neal Beisel, Harry Roberts, Judson Sutherland, C. E. Moore, Albert Muller, James Vinson, James A. Tarpley, Herman Zabel, Miss Elizabeth Muller, Fritz Muller, Mrs. Marian Wallace, and George McConnell, son of the home, just returned from a year in Michigan.

Double Birthday Event Happily Celebrated

Ireland's patron saint and J. P. Ryan of 320 West Second street, celebrated their birthdays on the same day so both were honored yesterday when Mrs. Ryan arranged for a number of friends to gather at her home for a dinner, thus surprising Mr. Ryan who had not been told of her plans.

The delicious dinner, the motif of which was Irish, was prepared and served by Mrs. Ryan with the assistance of Mrs. E. Witt of Anaheim.

Throughout the afternoon, games were played and much interest was created when Mr. Ryan opened the many gifts which he received. In the evening Mrs. Ryan served a delightful supper after which guests were entertained at a local theater.

Those who enjoyed the affair include: Mr. and Mrs. E. L. House, Mrs. A. Ott, Mrs. N. Overton, and G. Lindquist of this city, Mr. and Mrs. W. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Sganbery of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. E. Witt and Miss Olga Witt of Anaheim, and Mrs. A. Johnson and Miss Dorothy Johnson of Chicago.

Bible Classes Wish To Rent Organ

Since music always plays its important part in the Bible classes conducted each Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. by Mrs. J. W. Law, 315 South Birch street, Mrs. Law plans to ask her class members tomorrow (or any friends in the meantime) if they know where she might be able to secure an old-fashioned organ to keep at the Y and use each Tuesday afternoon and evening.

In the afternoon class from 2 to 3 o'clock, Mrs. Law greets the women who are interested in Bible study, and is at present conducting them through the book of John. The evening class (7:30 to 8:30) is composed of young women who are now deeply interested in the book of Daniel. Both classes are strictly undenominational and draw their attendance from various churches of the city, although Mrs. Law is also conducting Sunday classes in the First Baptist church.

In their search for an organ, the classes do not wish to purchase one, but thought it possible someone might have one to donate to their use, or one that might be rented for a small sum. It would be given excellent care in the Y building.

College Co-eds Give Annual Favor Dance In Orange

When it comes to "dating," the co-eds at the Santa Ana junior college can give the collegiate sheik a few pointers. At least, it was so demonstrated at the St. Patrick's dance held Saturday night in the Women's clubhouse in Orange, for the co-eds, according to a custom that has been established at the college, asked for the dates for the affair and assumed the chivalrous role of escorts.

The dance was staged under the auspices of the Associated Women students of which Miss Catherine Best is the president. The hall of the clubhouse was decorated in St. Patrick motifs combined with wild mustard. The same scheme was apparent in the refreshments, for the punch was green and the wafers were shaped like shamrocks. Miss Evelyn ("Dick") Metzger was in charge of the entertainment, Miss Helen Battey supervised the decorations and Miss Charlotte Harnois attended to the favors.

Several special dances were held among which were cymbal clashes, ladies' favors and a balloon dance, the latter being especially exciting.

In honor of the anniversary, the couples sought to break the balloons of other dancers and at the same time protect their own. The green balloons, too, gave due honor to St. Patrick.

At the beginning of the dance, the student revelers were received by the hostesses and the faculty chaperons. Assisting Miss Best, president of the Associated Women students, was Miss Elaine Smith, who was president last semester.

They were co-hostesses for the occasion. The faculty teachers preside for a short trip, the wedding journey being curtailed by press of duties of Mr. Durbin.

Mrs. Durbin will continue her duties at the county court-house where she is employed and Mr. Durbin will continue as a salesman for the Bass-Hueter company, of this city. The young people will establish their home here.

Supper and Dancing At Organization Meet

An event of last week in which guests from Santa Ana, Long Beach and Huntington Park joined, was the business organization and get-together of Singer Sewing Machine company employees, at a party held in the banquet hall of the Santa Ana branch, 305 1-2 West Fourth street.

Seventy-six persons gathered for the event, which was followed by an enjoyable supper in which the St. Patrick motif was stressed and the supper in turn gave place to dancing. Huntington Park guests furnishing the orchestra.

Sharing the pleasant affair with twenty-eight guests from Long Beach and thirty-one from Huntington Park, were Mr. Fuller and son, Mr. Manning and sister, Miss Martha Manning, Miss Cora Holt, Miss Dorothy Eichholt, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Carn, Mr. and Mrs. Curtin, Mr. and Mrs. Austin and Mr. Harrell, of Santa Ana and vicinity.

TWO MEN SLASHED IN KNIFE BATTLE

Following a bloody knife battle at San Juan Capistrano last night, in which two men were severely cut, three men are in the Orange county jail, charged with assault with a deadly weapon and a fourth is locked up on a drunk charge.

Frank Ramos, 42, was severely cut in the melee, as was Ramon Ruiz, 21, two of the men being held on the assault charges. The other is Joe Ramos, a brother of Frank. M. Dias is charged with being drunk.

Officers Clever, Howard, Yoder and Barnhill were credited with breaking up the fight, which is said to have occurred on the main street of the town, but the officers were unable to determine the cause for the battle.

The wounded men were given treatment at the jail, where they are being held. The quartet will probably be arraigned before Justice John Landell this afternoon.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Ebell's First Current Events section will hold a 1 o'clock luncheon tomorrow at the clubhouse where Mrs. Lois Osterman and Mrs. Lois Lentz will be hostesses. Those unable to be present are requested to phone 1752-W.

Northeast section members of the First Presbyterian Aid society will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. H. C. Dawes, 1413 Spurgeon street.

Of special interest will be the introduction of Mrs. Caroline Atherton, of Boston, National Alliance secretary. Tea will be served immediately after the program, and a social hour will follow.

Noonday Wedding Held In Local Church

Miss Erma R. Schooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Schooley, 368 South Shaffer street, Orange, became the bride of Fredrick H. Durbin, son of Mrs. Mary Durbin, of 436 East Chapman avenue, Friday at noon when the ceremony was read in the church of the Messiah of this city, by the Rev. Vernon Harris of Hollywood.

Only the immediate families of both parties and the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. L. Benton, Mrs. A. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. B. Stearns and daughter Miss Pauline Stearns, were present at the marriage.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left by automobile for a short trip, the wedding journey being curtailed by press of duties of Mr. Durbin.

Mrs. Durbin will continue her duties at the county court-house where she is employed and Mr. Durbin will continue as a salesman for the Bass-Hueter company, of this city. The young people will establish their home here.

MARINE INJURED BY HIT AND RUN AUTO

Charles Sensabaugh, 18, a marine stationed at San Diego, is in the Orange County hospital with severe head injuries, the victim of a hit and run motorist last night.

Sensabaugh was found at 930 o'clock last evening by Ed Hutchinson, a truck driver of Corona del Mar, and taken to Newport Beach for emergency treatment. He was brought to the hospital by Officers Mitchell and Nichols.

According to Sensabaugh's story to Hutchinson, he was struck about 6:30 o'clock p. m., near Corona del Mar, and had laid helpless beside the highway until found by Hutchinson. His injuries are not believed to be serious.

25 GALLONS BEER SEIZED BY POLICE

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, Pascual Herrera, 27, 922 Lincoln street, is in the Orange county jail awaiting a hearing set for this afternoon before City Recorder J. F. Talbot, in police court.

Herrera was arrested by Officers Smithwick, Dean and Adams, Saturday night, following the finding of a pint of alleged whiskey in his room. Officers also found approximately 25 gallons of beer in a shed at the rear of Herrera's home, they charge, but have not decided to charge him with being the owner.

The raid on the Herrera home was made early Saturday night, after the beer had been located earlier in the day by Sid Smithwick, assistant city marshal.

The beer, several corks, and other equipment used in the manufacturing of beer was confiscated and brought to the police station.

It appears to be a two-bit age. Nowadays, we go to the grocery so often we have a groove worn in at the door. Imagine the shock the grocer gets when some one buys a whole dollar's worth of one article. Such a buyer, of course, would be a right old lady.

But we have to have the groceries. You can bet the heirs-loom that the alert mind of the grocer are awake to that fact. So then, if you do not care to roll the Rolls-Royce down to the Main Street Compositorium, you can find a neighborhood store snuggled up within a day's haul of the average poor man's car. England has been dubbed a land of shopkeepers. We will be leading them soon and you can lay to that.

The great combinations of chain grocery and other stores continue to pile up. One chain begets 500 stores. The boast is hardly dried in the type until another has a thousand. Will figures never cease?

Grocers

You can buy dairy products in all grocery stores. And it's a queer sort of grocer's customer that does not know the value of milk and butter. One short conversation with your robust friends will tell you why they are that way. Excelsior milk makes the color in their cheeks. That's a cosmetic that does not rub off.

Local Writer Secures Place in Press Club Poetry Contest

Her sonnet, "The Huntsman," entered in the poetry contest of the Women's Press club, Los Angeles, won Miss Beulah May second place this year, according to the announcement made last Friday night at the annual spring banquet of the Press club held in Los Angeles in the Elks' clubhouse.

Miss May was among the guests at the function, but was unaware that her poem was a prize winner until the name de plume of the winners were read aloud, and hers (in the name of her grandmother, Margaret Ann Tilley), was read as winner of second place. Miss May took first place last year, and is to be congratulated upon her laurels won two years in succession.

Among the interesting speakers of the evening were Dr. Frank Crane, Henry Van Dyke, and Sidney Smith, creator of the Gumps.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Young Married People's Class
It was "Indade a foine iligant toime" that members of the Young Married People's class of the First Baptist Sunday school shared last Friday night when Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Marshall were hosts at a St. Patrick party.

The church parlors had been prettily adorned with lilies, freesias and ferns. St. Patrick dominated many of the merry games whose progress assisted in making the party a lively one. Refreshments of home-made angel food cake, fruit salad with whipped cream, and tea, were served amidst green decorations.

E. J. Edwards sang a clever song "Flight, Christian Soldier, Flight," which he had composed himself, and was heartily applauded by his classmates. Irish jokes were next in order, causing much laughter.

Mrs. G. C. Huffman called for speeches from the following, who responded with appropriate remarks: C. E. Pollins, Sunday school superintendent; A. G. Tucker, assistant superintendent; A. R. Marshall, class teacher and William A. Hazen, class president.

With T. J. Chen as cheer leader, the guests gave three rousing cheers for the committee responsible for sponsoring such a merry evening. Thirty-three were present at the party.

Some evening the latter part of April, Messrs. and Mesdames Spencer, William Elliott, Edward Farmer and T. J. Hemmen will entertain the class at a "backwards party."

Young People Motor To Ventura for Wedding

A quiet wedding of Saturday, March 19, which will be of keen interest to many friends, what that of Miss Mary L. French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. French, 930 West Camille street, and William Ashman, son of Mrs. Mary E. Ashman, 119 Grand avenue.

The young people left Saturday morning for Ventura, accompanied by Mr. Ashman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Kirkpatrick, and son, Willis. The ceremony at 1:30 o'clock, took place in the parsonage home of the Rev. Mr. Trotter, pastor of the First Methodist church of Ventura, and was attended only by Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashman and daughters, Gwendolyn and Alice Rose, of Ventura.

Miss French chose Canton crepe in soft peach tints for her wedding costume. She was attended by Mrs. Charles Ashman as matron of honor while Charles Adams served his brother as best man. Immediately after the ceremony, the party went to the Charles Ashman home on Anacapa street, Ventura, where elaborate plans had been made for the bridal dinner. Later the newlyweds continued to Santa Barbara where they planned to spend a short honeymoon before returning to this city and the pretty apartment awaiting them in Dean court, 807 West Fifth street. Mr. Ashman will resume his place with Hockaday and Harlow.

The wedding was the second one in the Ashman family in the short space of two weeks, for on March 12, James R. Ashman was the hand of Miss Marilyn Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reed of South Sycamore street. At that time, Miss French was maid of honor and William Ashman assisted his brother as best man.

Quaker Oats Urged Widely by Authorities

FOREMOST educators, editors as well as leading business institutions like General Electric Company, now are widely urging breakfasts that "stand by" as an important aid to success.

That's because it is now known that over 70% of the day's important work, in offices, stores, etc., falls into the four morning hours—the hours from 8.30 to 12.30.

In most American schools, including Princeton, Yale, most State Universities and some 2,000 grade schools throughout the country, 80% of the important classes are held before luncheon.

Thus, largely on expert advice, millions now start days with Quaker Oats—food that "stands by" one through the morning.

Excellent balanced in protein, carbohydrates, minerals and the important Vitamin B, this delicious food is ideal for banishing listless mornings.

Today get Quick Quaker that cooks in 2½ to 3 minutes or regular Quaker Oats at grocer's.

FRENCH SWEEP INDOOR TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 21.—A look at the scores made in the international team matches and at the field of Americans entered in the national indoor tennis championships gives sufficient cause for the cry, "The French are loose again."

With three straight victories the French team, Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, clinched the international team matches against the Americans and the first day's play in the indoor nationals was enough to warrant a prediction that another French name will be written on the cup under the 1926 inscription of Rene La Coste.

America's real strength is not represented on an entry list that does not include Bill Tilden, Bill Johnston, Richard Williams, and the little outlaw, Vincent Richards. But following the same argument, France is not at its full strength without Rene La Coste, holder of the American indoor and outdoor titles, and Henri Cochet.

Dr. George King and Francis T. Hunter are the best American players in the indoor championships and they do not rate with either Borotra or Brugnon. The strength of the French players was demonstrated by the beating that Brugnon gave Manuel Alonzo when it realized that Brugnon is considered in France only an ordinary singles player and when the word of competency critics is taken that Alonzo was playing over his best game when he was defeated.

Endurance may handicap the French players through a week of tournament competition, as it did last year. But they will have had more time to practice this year and their opposition will not be as strong as it was last year when they had to battle past Tilden and Richards to get into the finals.

While the American officials may be resigned to the loss of the indoor championships, they seek solace in the hope that another story will be told on the outdoor courts in Paris, Wimbledon and Forest Hills this summer, where Tilden is to make his big efforts to come back.

Amendments to Constitution Fail Of Passage

WASHINGTON, March 21.—United States of America would be known as United States of the World, the senate would be abolished, the president and vice president would be elected for eight-year terms, and many other revolutionary changes in the federal government would prevail, if some senators and representatives had been allowed to amend the constitution.

Attempting to tinker with the constitution has long been a favorite pastime of many federal legislators. Since 1889 they have made the great document the target for 1850 amendments.

Of all the amendments proposed during the 140 years since the constitution was ratified by the states, however, only 19 have been adopted. Only four of those are among the 1350 proposed in the last 58 years and the endless controversy which has grown out of the eighteenth amendment has caused some legislators, regardless of their position on the wet and dry question, to believe it will be increasingly difficult for the constitution to be amended in the future.

There is one amendment among those pending in congress, however, which has strong support. It has been passed three times by overwhelming votes in the senate but has been consistently blocked in the house. Its author, Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, nevertheless, still expects favorable action.

The Norris amendment would change the time of meeting of congress, would do away with the "short" or "lame duck" sessions, and would change the beginning of the presidential and vice presidential office terms.

Protest Against Fishing Methods Of Japanese Firm

SAN DIEGO, March 21.—Vigorous protests against establishment of a huge fish trap on the Lower California coast, just below the international boundary line, by the Ocean Industries company, a Japanese concern, have been launched by local fishing associations.

Permission to establish the fish trap was granted to M. Konda, president of the Ocean Fisheries company, by the department of agriculture at Mexico City.

The trap, which was used by Konda last year, is approximately one mile in length and when filled to capacity contains hundreds of tons of fish of all size and species.

Fishermen claim that Konda saves from the trap only fish that bring comparatively high prices in the California markets and that as a result hundreds of tons of undersized and undesirable fish are thrown upon the beach to die. Konda denies this, pointing out that the Japanese government, which practices fish conservation to the utmost in Japanese territorial waters, have been employing fish traps for years.

American fishermen, however, take issue with the fish trap proponents, declaring that it not only is a means of daily wasting many tons of valuable seafood but that it also seriously affects the entire Southern California fresh fish trade by glutting the markets.

HAVENS GIVES ADVICE TO SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO

Editor Register: Recently the Register contained the announcement that the San Juan Capistrano Chamber of Commerce was going to get behind a movement to put a road up over the mountains from the Hot Springs Canyon. Before it goes too far with this, I would like to have it look into another matter that has a more vital importance, not only to Capistrano, but to the county at large.

In order to keep the record straight and also to let you know that I am not jumping at conclusions, would like to say that this proposed road idea has been before us a good many years. As a matter of fact $18,000 was spent in this same effort some years ago. Not a large sum you may think, but when you go and see what happened to that road the very first rainstorm, and the small amount of work accomplished for said sum of money, you may realize what the cost and still more important, the upkeep would be if a real road were to be constructed over those steep mountains. I was raised in the mountains adjoining the San Juan Hot Springs Canyon and have done my share of mountain road work. I have seen slides and washouts that would soon make a road a liability even when it was a necessity. At the present time this road is not a necessity.

Within the last few weeks I have asked some of Capistrano's best known citizens to ask the supervisors to appropriate money as soon as possible to survey out as many dam sites as would be needed to control the Trabuco and San Juan creeks.

Not only that the farmers and subdividers will soon need the water, but to protect the ranches and roads in that vicinity—a condition that at this moment needs action and no mistake. I maintain that their district on account of the fact that it will not require so much detail work, could have their work well under way before the Prado dam details could be all ironed out, although no one is more anxious to see that project start than myself. We may spend money on a road when it may become necessary to condemn for a dam site large sections of the canyon that this same road is laid upon. We have plenty of roads to keep up right here on the level and we have to keep increasing our gas tax every little while in order to finance them. Right today there are hundreds of places in the county that need attention. One of them is the protection work around the county farm, and right here I want to bet that Supervisor John Mitchell would be glad to put in that $10,000 that his ancestors or predecessors promised another district, and the hospital site is not in his district either.

Think this over boys. You have a great future before you at Capistrano, and the landmarks that I observed there in '33 are being replaced with fine modern structures, and numerous parcels of fine land being set out to young trees, but the water you have today may not begin to supply the demand 10 years from now. Don't do like we of Santa Ana river basin have been guilty of doing and let the river run wild and put all of our constructive force on other things that were not as essential. We have the right board of supervisors to put over this water program. Let us keep our county as one unit in working toward its consummation. Mr. Editor, I do not agree with you that a good road up over the mountains would cut down the fire loss by making a fire more accessible to the firefighting crews. Anyone that has had much experience fighting mountain fires will say he would rather be a little late going to one fire than to make a hurry up run to a dozen over a better road. Every auto that goes over that proposed grade will be a menace to that entire water shed. It is not the farmers and merchants and workmen that set these fires by throwing away a cigar, or cigarette; it is the man that has nothing else to do but run around over the country taking advantage of pleasures that some one else paid for—money that he bonded his home and his county to obtain. I will need only to call your attention to our recent fire in the Santiago to substantiate this. It looks to me as if the signs are all pointing to prosperity to a degree never before known here if we will quit sky-gazing and sky-driving long enough to get behind this water plan and let well enough alone in minor affairs. Friends this is offered in a constructive rather than a critical way, if I am wrong, set me right in the same manner, and I will thank you.

CHAS. F. HAVENS.

WOULD MEASURE EVOLUTION BY FACT AND NOT BY BELIEF

Editor Register: In all the controversy between evolution and fundamentalism it is more than apparent to the lay public that neither side has anything more substantial than a belief upon which to found its contentions. To the onlooker, however, there comes this question: Can a belief establish a fact?

On religious ground there can be no doubt that its devotees have the idea fixed in their consciousness that their belief does establish certain facts yet in the material world; the same people realize fully that belief does not and cannot establish or even certify to a material fact.

And so it is in the material world and more especially in our civil courts we readily recognize the innate difference between fact and belief.

Now in the case of evolution, it is a material fact or it is not, and whether it is or not can never be established by a belief no matter if it is underwritten by and with the term fundamental.

To have and to hold beliefs is a normal and legitimate function of the mind. Also, to know how to discriminate between fact and belief is the true function and purpose of knowledge, but this is with in the range of the relative and comparative and has little to do with supreme fact or supreme belief. What we need to understand beyond all things else is that no fact and no belief can be supreme

SAYS OUTLOOK SPLENDID FOR LAKE HARVEST

STRATFORD, March 21.—The biggest agricultural gamble in California, it is asserted by those who know, is to be planting of wheat crops on the Tulare lake bed. Farming is done there on a big scale, with immense areas planted to wheat or barley by individuals or companies. This year is one of the best in prospect in the history of the lake section, with abundance of rain to mature a crop, and for several months planting has been going on with great vigor. There are now seeded 150,000 acres, mostly wheat, and all of it bids fair to make a crop, even on the dryest of the area. Some of the land will produce as high as forty sacks of wheat to the acre. With wheat prices as high as they are monetary returns bid fair to be heavier than in the banner crop year of 1923, when production was $4,000,000.

Most grain is safe from flood, but in the center of the lake, where seventeen of the entire eighteen sections are in grain and production is always heaviest, there is danger of flood, of spring freshets coming down Kings river from the Sierra. Owners of this grain area are worried, for in 1923 much of this lake center land, bearing a heavy crop of wheat, went under water.

One man who has two sections of grain in the lake center said today he hopes to beat the elements to it. His one section of barley is "in the boot" and he can harvest that the first of May. His section of wheat will not be ready to harvest before the first of June. He thinks he will save his barley, but there is danger of floods for his wheat, as May is the usual month of freshets, especially to wheat, the average production of which will probably be from twenty sacks to the acre up. However, the lake land farmer knows he plays a risky game. It makes it, he makes it big; if he loses—well, he had a good chance this year and he will pocket his losses and is generally ready to go in again when next season looks favorable.

CARRIERS INSTALL AUXILIARY OFFICERS

Officers of the newly organized Santa Ana auxiliary of the Letter Carriers' association were installed Saturday night at Woodmen's hall. Officers of the Long Beach auxiliary officiated at the ceremonies.

Alexander and Mrs. Stephenson and Mrs. Alexander, of Santa Ana, as guests. With Seth Bullock as toastmaster, a number of after-dinner talks featured the occasion. Officers installed by Mrs. Glenn M. Today's Anniversaries 1829—Six thousand lives were lost in an earthquake which laid waste the greater part of the Spanish province of Murcia.

1833—Sir George Jessel, the first Jew to become an English judge, died in London. Born there Feb. 13, 1824.

1888—George W. Cass, former president of the Northern Pacific railroad, died in New York City. Born in Muskingum county, O., in 1810.

1890—Gen. George Crook, Civil war commander and noted Indian fighter, died in Chicago. Born at Dayton, O., Sept. 8, 1828.

1896—Beginning of the Anglo-Egyptian movement for the recovery of the Sudan from the Derivishes.

1902—P. J. Garrigan was appointed first Roman Catholic bishop of Sioux City.

and also comparative and subject to interpretation.

Now as to evolution again, it is an intuitive part of the supreme fact of creation or it is not and whether it is or not can be established by knowledge only and never by belief nor yet by a legislative act.

COUNCIL PLANS SEWER IN NEW PART OF CITY

First steps in preparation for meeting a crying need of residents in the southwest part of the city are scheduled for tonight at the meeting of the city council.

The first step is to be approval of plans and specifications drawn by City Engineer Clyde Jenkins for installation of a complete system of sewer and water lines in the territory recently annexed to the city.

The southwest district affected is between Edinger street and Delhi road, and Main and Bristol streets. The work will be done under the 1911-15 improvement and bond act.

Tied in with this work also will be sewer installations on the east side of Main street. The district here extends from Main to Maple, and for one-fourth of a mile south of Edinger street, the one-fourth mile south marking the southern city limits on the east side of Main.

Jenkins said today that proceedings will be rushed as fast as possible, so that property owners in the southwest section may be relieved at an early date of conditions they have been fighting for several years.

COP HAS CHAUFFEUR

New Well Near Atwood; Orange Trees Ruined

Several acres of oranges were ruined last week when the California Petroleum company's Richfield-Consolidated No. 13, located in the southeast section of the Atwood field, struck an oil pocket at 2715 feet. The oil shot several hundred feet over the derrick top, the flow lasting eight hours before it was controlled by the crew.

Indicating the productivity of the so-called flats at Atwood, the Associated Oil company's Compton 2A came in today at a flow of 1100 barrels of 23 degree oil. The well is an offset to the Merchants Petroleum company's No. 4. The latter well is scheduled to go on production this week.

TWO ARRESTED ON CHARGES OF DRUNK

Two men, A. L. Cady, 1214 North Lacy street, and G. F. Pinnix, 709 Shelton street, are being held in the county jail by Santa Ana police officers for investigation, following their arrest with two young girls here Saturday night.

One of the girls, 16 years old, was said to have been in a drunken condition, when city officers found the quartet riding around in an automobile. An empty whiskey bottle was found in the car, which was driven by Cady, the report indicated.

The girl became violently ill at the police station and a physician was called, who pronounced her drunk. The girls were taken home and the men to jail.

Claude Rogers, city marshal, said today that charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, may be filed against the two men.

ORANGE COUNTY FARMERS BUSY WITH PLOWING

There is hardly an able-bodied tractor or horse on the farms of Orange county that is standing idle today.

After weeks of rain and dampness, the farmers are getting upon the ground. The call of the dinner bell today will find men leaving the plow in the furrow, for it is the plow that is busiest these days.

The drying wind that has blown spasmodically since Friday night has served a useful purpose. It has hastened the drying of the surface of the ground so that even in most of the damper places farmers can get on to the ground.

The farmers are going to work with a will, for the heavy rainfall of the last three months assures them that they will be able to grow crops.

The bean men, where weeds have been making their presence known, have been anxious to begin the slaughter of the pest. Great level surfaces without a single weed is the ambition of every bean grower.

Where weeds have started, the bean man wants the weeds turned under and the ground put into shape for planting of limas in May.

The long spell has given orchards huge cover crops. In many orchards the disc will have to be used in both directions before plowing is undertaken.

ORDER ARREST OF MOTORISTS WITH OLD TAGS

Little Excuse for Failure To Secure 1927 Plates Is Belief of State Chief

Motorists using blue and white 1925 automobile license plates today were liable to arrest for failure to procure the new 1927 plates, it was announced by H. C. Meehan, captain of the state motorcycle squad in Orange county.

Meehan was in receipt today of instructions from C. K. Harder, chief inspector of the division of motor vehicles, to direct his officers to halt all motor vehicles carrying blue and white plates.

Imposed Vehicles

"Motorists who have not made application for 1927 buff and maroon plates will be arrested and their vehicles impounded," the captain said.

It was explained that those who have made application, but for some reason have not received their new plates, will be allowed to proceed. They will be required, however, to produce evidence satisfactory to the officer that they have filed an application.

The division estimates that there are some 40,000 or 50,000 motorists in the state who have not made application for new plates. Owners of approximately 1,300,000 vehicles have complied with the law.

All Applications Filled

Harder advised that all plates, except a few held up because of uncompleted clearances, defective bills of sale and other legal reasons, have been cleared from the division offices. In his opinion, there no longer is legitimate excuse for any motorist who has failed to apply for his plates.

U. S. OFFICIALS INSPECT FIRE TRAILS, BREAKS

A party of U. S. forest officials, including District Forester S. B. Shaw, of San Francisco, today is making an inspection of fire trails, fire breaks and forest roads in the Santa Ana mountains.

Leaving St. Ann's Inn at 8 o'clock this morning, the officials went directly to the trail camp in Silverado canyon. This afternoon they will visit the trail camp in Trabuco. Work on trails and firebreaks is being done from these camps through the use of a fund provided by Orange county and by the forest service, going 50-50.

The party will go over a part of the area that was burned over last November. This area lies in the upper Santiago and Harding canyons, with a small area in the upper part of the Silverado canyon.

Those in the party are S. B. Shaw, district forester; R. E. Deering, assistant district forester; J. H. Price, inspector in charge of fire prevention, all three of San Francisco; J. E. Elliott, forest supervisor, of San Diego, and J. B. Stephenson, district ranger, of Corona.

ROW IN APARTMENT ENDS WITH ARREST

Police were called to the Barry apartments, 1006 Losan street, early yesterday morning to quell a row between a man and woman occupying one of the apartments. At this time arrests were made and a report was filed to the effect that it was merely a family row.

Three hours later a second call came to police and Officers Smithwick and Barnard arrested Ray Soto, 37, laborer, charging him with being drunk.

According to officers Soto had been beaten up by a woman and showed on his face and head, marks of the battle. He was lodged in the county jail. The woman was not arrested.

HE WAS HUNGRY

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass., March 21.—Fifty-seven fried eggs, a pound of cheese, a loaf of bread. That's what George Dixon, 29-year-old truck driver, had for dinner here. And he washed it down with so many cups of coffee that the storekeeper lost count.

SENATOR CLARENCE C. DILL AND BRIDE AFTER WEDDING

An individually distinguished couple are U. S. Senator and Mrs. Clarence C. Dill, posed here after their recent wedding at Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island. Mrs. Dill was the former "General" Rosalie Jones, the militant suffragist of a decade ago; at the time of his election several years ago as senator from the state of Washington, her husband was the youngest legislator in the upper chamber of congress.

Relate Story of How Kitty's Name Became Feminized

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The romantic story of how Ned became Nadine is echoing through the vast corridors beneath the capitol. Ned ranked as a top sergeant in the army of cats maintained there to wage war against invading rats. Stationed at the capitol end of the senators' private subway to their office building, Ned gained respect, admiration, and a name as mouser.

One day a litter of kittens was found beneath a landing platform. Ned's behavior disclosed plainly their maternal parentage.

The discovery proved Ned to be a misleading name and capitol guards hit upon Nadine as the most fitting substitute.

Elude Barriers To Visitors At Capital Events

WASHINGTON, March 21.—There are many devices for keeping down the guest lists at big White House receptions. One rule bars children and another limits members of congress to house guests when they ask permission to bring friends.

One congressman telephoned to the White House recently to ask if he could take his son.

"How old is he?" he was asked.

"Well," was the hesitating reply. "He's very tall and very sophisticated."

Another desired the privilege of bringing friends.

"Are they house guests?"

"No. They're not house guests, but they live just across the street."

BET MORE, DRINK LESS

LONDON, March 21.—Women of the middle classes in England indulge in gambling to break the monotony of their lives, according to a survey just completed by the social and industrial commission of the national assembly of the Church of England. Consumption of intoxicants, they found, was less, but betting was on the increase.

Novel Plan for Bean Economy In Senate Rejected

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Thoughts of economy stir the senate. One prominent Republican senator during the recent session approached the chief of the senate restaurants with an economy plan of his own.

Why not, he suggested, cut the bean bill about half by making each bean do double duty for its country? Soup could be made first, he explained, and the beans could be scooped out to be served as baked.

The chief explained soberly that this was not feasible, and certain inquirers are trying to learn if the senator was serious.

Special Weeks In America Increase

WASHINGTON, March 21.—There are 100 weeks to the year in the United States regardless of science and the calendar makers. The civic department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States made the discovery in compiling a list of special days and weeks set aside for various observances.

The special weeks range from Reindeer to Better Homes week, from American speech week to National Garden week, Constitution to Corn week, and Thrift to Courtesy week. Fathers, mothers, sons and daughters, apples, oranges, pines and books all have special weeks, with an additional day set aside for mothers.

NEEDLES AS CURE

PYONGYANG, Korea, March 21.—The x-ray machine in use at the Christian hospital here has disclosed some of the amazing treatments once practiced by Korean doctors of the old school. One man recently examined had 43 copper needles lodged in his abdomen. They had been thrust in, two or three at a time, over a period of four years, as a treatment for indigestion.

TRIMS BARBERS

BELLINGHAM, Wn., March 21.—An elderly farmer, famed as wealthy prophet and student of nature, said in an interview in a local paper that hair-cutting during the dark of the moon was dangerous and conducive to baldness. There followed a depression of business for barbers, who protested, and demanded retraction.

LA HABRA WILL ASK TELEPHONE SYSTEM BE PUT ON NEW BASIS

"Discriminatory and Detrimental" Situation Subject of Complaint to Board

FULLERTON BACKS UP SMALLER CITY

Orange County Communities Suffer by Operation Of Present Method

Agitation of a movement in northern Orange county a few days ago, to correct a "discriminatory and detrimental" situation in the divorcing of La Habra from direct telephone communication with the rest of Orange county, will be formally brought to the attention of the county supervisors tomorrow, it became known today.

A letter to the supervisors from the Fullerton chamber of commerce, accompanied by a resolution passed by the Fullerton body, has been filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs, to be read before the supervisors at their meeting Tuesday.

Ask Co-operation

In this letter, the Fullerton organization urges the county board to co-operate in defeating an arrangement between telephone companies, whereby La Habra's telephone system is confined solely to connections with the Home Telephone company, of Whittier.

Until a few months ago, it is said, La Habra enjoyed service both of the Whittier company and the Pacific Telephone company. Then an agreement was said to have been made whereby the Home company took exclusive possession of the field, and the Pacific company withdrew all but seven or eight lines. The result was that telephone communication between La Habra and other Orange county points is routed through Los Angeles county.

The Fullerton chamber of commerce objects to that situation and passed its resolution of protest at a meeting attended by a La Habra delegation, including the mayor and city attorney, who agreed that it would be for the best interest of La Habra to have direct communication with the rest of the county.

Object to L. A. Link

The Fullerton chamber declares the arrangement now in effect is "discriminatory and detrimental" not only to La Habra but to other Orange county points, because of the La Habra district being annexed to the Los Angeles county telephone system.

The county board is urged to pass a resolution similar to that enacted at Fullerton, which pledges its "moral and financial assistance" to La Habra in "securing a proper solution" of the problem.

KIDNAPING TOLD OFFICERS BY TWO GIRLS

A story of being kidnaped on a Santa Ana street, late Saturday night by two young men, who carried them from the high school to Edinger street in a machine, before their cries attracted attention and they made their escape, told to police by two Santa Ana school girls aged about 15 years, caused the arrest early yesterday morning of Vernon Woodward, 19, 1416 West Washington avenue, and a boy who gave his age as 17.

The two youths are being held in the county jail in connection with the case, and also on charges of possession of intoxicating liquor, following the alleged finding of a pint of whiskey in their machine.

According to the story told off-icers, the two girls were walking to their homes, when the two boys drove up in their machine, jumped out and grabbed the girls, placing one in the car. The other fought against the men, who man- aged to force her to stand on the running board of the car. The car started off and got as far as Edinger street, when the girl fell off into the street.

At this time occupants of an- other machine, coming from the opposite direction, Harold Berry, 723 Kilson Drive, Santa Ana, and John Black, 616 Ninth street, Huntington Beach, were attracted to the machine and they rescued the girl, who was in the machine at the same time taking the num- ber of the car.

The girls were brought to the Santa Ana police station where they told their story. Officers on Santa Ana beats were given the number obtained, and at 1:30 a. m., yesterday, Officer C. W. Wolford located the car and arrested the two youths.

A purse, identified as belonging to one of the girls, was said to have been found in the machine. The purse contained approximately $12, which the owner claims was stolen from her, according to a police report.

Pending an interview between District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., and police officers, the men will be held on the liquor charges. City Marshal Claude Rogers said today. He said he did not know what other charge would grow out of the arrest.

CONTROL OF GARDEN PESTS DISCUSSED

That snails, slugs, sowbugs, cut- worms and earwigs are often the hidden causes which make your favorite garden shrubs and plants die was revealed today by Mr. A. D. Cardinet, Chief Entomologist of the Antrol Laboratories, Inc., of Los Angeles, California.

"Most garden pests," says Mr. Cardinet, "do their destructive work at night. They conceal themselves in the day time and often we are not even aware of their presence. We plant our seeds, plants and shrubs and when they fail to grow we blame our seed dealer. But this is not the case, the true cause is the snail, slug, sowbug, cutworm, etc., which prob- ably eating the tender shoots of the plant as they first appear."

Snails, slugs, sowbugs and cut- worms, etc., are likely to be an increasing menace to gardens and crops, according to Cardinet.

The problem of controlling these ants has long been a puzzle to the farmer, the gardener or person who suffers loss through their ravages. Many methods of contact poisoning have been used with varying degrees of success. The trouble with these methods is that the poison with which the pest comes in contact not only kills the pest but the plant and vegetable life as well. Also the poison may be eaten by fowl, animals or even humans with fatal consequences.

Mr. Cardinet, after years of re- search, has perfected a method of control which has overcome the ob- jections to all previously used "contact" poisons. This method embraces the use of a food made of meal and sweetened with a syrupy substance. This is a nat- ural food which the pest eats and which acts as a stomach poison. It will not injure plant or veg- etable life and because it is soaked into the ground, it will not be eaten by animal or bird life. Thus it overcomes the two objections that were always against contact poisons.

Cardinet's work has not only been of great service to agricul- ture but has also rewarded him personally. The various controls that he has discovered are now sold commercially throughout the United States. The garden pest control, under the name of Snarol, is now offered by dealers every- where. Also Antrol for ants, and Flyrol for flies, are products of the life work of this noted entomol- ogist.

AT THE THEATERS

The Three Crowell sisters, now appearing in vaudeville at the Yost Broadway theater.

Buster Keaton, frozen-faced com-edian, who is to be seen in his lat- est picture, "The General," at the West Coast-Walker theater.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Proclaimed as the costliest com-edy ever produced, "The General," Buster Keaton's laugh and thrill film of the Civil war opened yes- terday at the West Coast-Walker theater.

"The General" is unlike in film- dom, in that it pictures a true story of the sixties, is historically accurate, contains thrills never duplicated in the biggest dram-atic photoplays, and at the same time is comedy from the opening fade-in to the final fade-out.

When Buster started work on "The General" as his first picture for United Artists, he did so with the idea of making the year's biggest comedy. When critical Hollywood audiences previewed the completed opus they pro- nounced it not only the greatest comedy they had ever seen, but a feature that ranks in dramatic action with some of the outstand- ing photoplays of the past decade.

One of the big thrills in "The General," which is based on the Andrews railroad raid and locomotive chase, a vivid chapter of the Civil war, is the plunge of a speeding locomotive from a burn- ing trestle into a raging river. This scene was made at a cost of $40,000; the wreckage still reposes in the bed of the river near Cottage Grove, Oregon.

On the stage, first place is taken by Edna Covey in a dead-pan burlesque of a variety of nonsen- sical things.

Edna Covey, the funniest eccen- tric dancer, is aided and abetted by interesting performers. Cush- ing and Hutton and Sally and Ted, in a miniature ballet, also appear- ed in Fanchon and Marco's Fan "Idea."

The high standard being set at Walker's during the last few weeks is being admirably main- tained.

TUSTIN SWEEPS FIELD IN BOYS' MEET
BREEDING MAY SET NEW WORLD RECORD

NEIGHBORING CITY SCHOOL WINS IN EVERY DIVISION; JULIA LATHROP IS SECOND

Amassing the staggering total of 82 1-5 points and earning first places in every competitive division—midget, junior, intermediate and senior—Tustin routed a field of close to 400 youthful athletes and won most impressively the championship in the annual Orange County grammar school track meet at Poly field here Saturday. More than 1000 witnessed the affair.

S. A. NET MEN TAKE TOURNEY FROM VISITORS

Players on the Santa Ana junior chamber of commerce tennis team defeated the Ross Snyder playground team, of Los Angeles, five matches to three, in a tournament held yesterday on the Santa Ana high school courts.

John Cress, first singles ace of the Santa Ana squad, had his colors lowered by Astine in three hard fought sets. The scores were 6-3, 5-7 and 6-4.

Other results follow: George Preble (SA) won 6-7, 6-1, 6-2 from Alley; Richard Ewert (SA) lost 10-12.

TWO SANTA ANA TRACK ACES

HARVEY BEAR

HAROLD BREEDING

Two of the greatest track athletes ever developed in Santa Ana are Harvey Bear, captain and premier sprinter of this year's high school squad, and Harold Breeding, long-legged miler, who threatens to lower the world's interscholastic mark for the four-lap grind. Captain Bear was a double-winner in the Southern Counties meet at Huntington Beach Saturday, taking both the 100 and 220 sprints, while Breeding was an easy victor, negotiating the mile in 4 minutes, 29 4-10 seconds for a new meet record.

RIVERSIDE COLLEGIANS WIN FROM SANTA ANA, 87 TO 44; REINHARDT LOSES NEW MARK

By ALFRED AULT

Aubrey ("Tiny") Reinhardt, the big boy of the Santa Ana junior college track team, was denied the credit of establishing a new Southern California junior college conference record in the shot put during the meet between the Dons and Riverside junior college at Riverside last Saturday. Although Reinhardt beat the old conference record of 38 feet by a distance of two feet when he made a put of exactly 40 feet, he was second to Patton, star weight man of the Riverside team. Patton's toss went for a distance of 41 feet.

In the same manner that Reinhardt was beaten, the Santa Ana team was forced to take second to the powerful Riverside squad. The score was 87 to 44, Riverside falling only one point short of doubling the Dons' score. The victory made Riverside a ranking contender with Pasadena for the Southern California junior college conference championship which will be decided in the dual clash between the colleges this week.

The weakness of the Santa Ana team in the hurdles and the sprints told heavily.

SANTA ANA MILER HAS COME TO FRONT RAPIDLY IN FIRST TWO SEASONS ON CINDERPATH

Unless he "burns himself out" or forgets the first two lessons in the athletic library—care and condition—Harold Breeding, Santa Ana's remarkable miler, seems destined to become one of the outstanding foot runners of the age. Breeding has strength, speed, heart, power, endurance, form—all the requisites of the natural distance campaigner. His future, apparently, rests in his own hands for he seems to be able to run about as fast as he cares to run.

Certainly no such natural runner ever dropped a spiked shoe into a Santa Ana track. Breeding proved this Saturday when he ran a mile at Huntington Beach in the amazing time of 4 minutes, 29 4-10 seconds, which shattered to smithereens the record for the Southern Counties meet—4 minutes, 44 seconds.

Breeding made this record in the face of a heavy wind that slowed most of the field to a walk on the back straightaway.

World Record Possible
The gifted Poly boy does not seem to have plumbed the depths of his speed and it may be written in the books that he is to establish a new world's interscholastic record for one mile before he completes his high school course in June.

Furthermore, he looms as an American possibility in the 1500 meters in the Olympic Games, which will be held next summer in Amsterdam.

The accepted pre record for the mile is 4 minutes, 20 seconds and was made in 1912 by J. D. MacKenzie at Cambridge, Mass. William J. Cox, Mercedesburg academy, unofficially bettered this time in 1925. Chasley Unruh, El Monte high school, ran 4 minutes, 23 1-10 seconds in a specially paced mile at Poly field during the occasion of the Orange County American Legion games in 1925.

All these men were experienced veterans when they established their marks. Breeding is just starting his second year on the cinderpath. He ran his first competitive mile on February 26, 1926, and was timed in 4:57.2. This was accomplished in a dual meet with Covina high school and brought him out of obscurity for he had attempted first to be a sprinter and then, a week before the Covina contest, a half-miler, taking second in the 880 in his high school class meet.

Improvement Is Rapid

Breeding improved rapidly last spring, cutting his time with almost every start until, on April 17, he established a new Coast Preparatory league record of 4:38.8. He accepted defeat for the first time May 2, losing to Ferguson, Inglewood, in the All-Southern prep meet. Ferguson also took his measure in the California state meet, Breeding being timed in 4:36 both days as he finished second.

He also was beaten his first race this year, losing to Hall of Long Beach by a foot in 4:44. Then Breeding made 4:33.5 at Glendale and came back a week later, fighting a hard wind, and ran 4:29.4. His competitive record follows:

Feb. 26—5:57.2 (Covina).
March 5—4:59 (Fullerton).
March 10—4:51 (Compton-Tustin).
March 12—4:54 (Chaffey Invitational).

Billy Evans Says

PLAYING HUNCH, PERHAPS

Is Phil Ball, the owner of the St. Louis Browns, playing a hunch in the reorganization of his ball club?

As I watched the Browns go through their training stunts at Tarpon Springs, Fla., that thought occurred to me, as I noted the fact that two former members of the Cardinals' board of strategy were numbered among the "Brownie" advisers.

Bill Killefer and Otto Williams are the men I have in mind. Last season they helped Rogers Hornsby by map out his strategic maneuvers that ultimately resulted in the winning of the pennant and world series by the Cardinals.

BASEBALL FANS FICKLE

It is just possible that Owner Phil Ball is playing a hunch. There is also a chance that he is making a bid for fandom's favor by taking over these deposed two coaches who helped the Cardinals to win a pennant.

As often stated, baseball fans are mighty fickle. Last year most of the St. Louis enthusiasts put in the summer cheering the Cardinals and jeering the Browns.

George Sisler was a particular target for the hard-hearted boys. The Browns had flopped and Sisler, worried over the showing of the club, had slumped badly in his play, batting surprisingly most.

Yet, when Sisler was released as manager, a lot of the boys who had put him on the pan during the summer, immediately started to sing his praises.

As a matter of fact, many of them in a loud voice signified their intention of cutting the Browns off their calling list.

FANS WILL FOLLOW WINNER

Then came the National league upheaval in St. Louis. When Hornsby was traded to New York the fans temporarily, at least, forgot all about the Sisler episode.

This time the National league followers sent up the roar of disapproval. Hornsby was their idol. He had won for St. Louis its first pennant in 33 years.

It was a most unusual situation. His removal as manager was drastic action on the part of the owners when Hornsby refused to accept the terms offered.

Turning loose the outstanding star of the National league, who as manager had captured baseball's greatest honor, was unheard of in big league circles.

St. Louis fans in greater numbers insisted they were through

TWO RECORDS SHATTERED AS CHAFFEY, SAN DIEGO TRAIL POLY TRACKSTERS

More cups, statuettes and medals were put behind lock in the Santa Ana high school trophy case today as the local institution celebrated the victory of Coach "Tex" Oliver's well balanced team in the sixth annual Southern Counties track and field meet at Huntington Beach Saturday, won by virtue of 45 points captured in nine events on the card.

Chaffey high school, which took second with 39 1-2 points, showed the way to the local victory until the last two events were reached whereupon Poly turned in its deluge of counters and then led things with a clean-cut triumph in the half mile relay.

San Diego was third with 28 digits. Other teams scored as follows: El Centro 16, Redlands 13, Fullerton 9, Anaheim 3, Orange 2 1-2, Garden Grove 3.

Breeding Cracks Record

Harold Breeding Santa Ana's talented miler, and Fred Steiner, behemoth Chaffey weight thrower, both smashed Southern Counties meet records, the former racing a big field into submission and finishing all by himself in the astounding early season time of 4 minutes, 29 4-10 seconds. Steiner threw the discus 137 feet, 7 1-2 inches.

Captain Harvey Bear, whose victories in the 100 and 220 yard dashes really won the meet for Santa Ana, cracked the records for both contests. He was clocked in 9.9 seconds in the century and 22 flat in the furlong but the officials ruled that there was too much wind at his back to allow his times.

Bert Ritchey, San Diego colored boy, also lost two records because of the strong breeze. He was an easy victor in both hurdle races, taking the high sticks in 15.5 seconds and the lows in 25 flat.

Leaves Field Behind

Breeding's time was all the more remarkable because of the wind which might have aided him on the home stretch but which certainly fought him just as hard, if not harder, while he ran into it on the back straightaway. The tall Polyite raced into the lead at the outset and was never in danger. Sisler, San Diego, elected to stay close behind him for a bit but Breeding ran him into the ground in the first three laps and then, with the leg-drive of a racehorse and the stride of an antelope, sprinted the entire last lap like a quarter-miler, leaving his contenders 50 yards in the rear.

One of the pleasing surprises of the afternoon and helpful, too, was the work of the Poly high jumpers, Bob Jacques and John Moffatt. These two tied for first place, Moffatt defeating his teammate in the jump-off for the medals. Both men cleared 5 feet, 9 1-2 inches, which is better than any local athlete has done since the days of the late Paul Anderson in 1913.

Moffatt, Hearn Tie

Manley Santa Ana pair, tied for first honors in the pole vault, which also was something of a shock to the enemy. Moffatt cleared 11 feet to deprive Hearn the bother of carrying the gold medal home, and took first place.

Other Santa Ana points were registered by J. Moffatt, who was second in the high hurdles; Terry Stephenson, third in the 220; Joe Warner, third in the 440; Ernie Velarde, fourth in the broad jump; Wylie Carlyle, fourth in the 440 and the relay quartette, composed of Bear, Jack Blakeney, Clarence Fairchild and Stephenson, which ran in that order and won by more than 10 yards.

Captain Bear, Ritchey and Steiner, all with two first places, tied for high point honors as it appears in cold type, but Bear deserves the laurels for he ran the stellar lap in the winning relay combination.

This was Santa Ana's initial victory in the Huntington Beach classic, which was won in 1922, 1923 and 1924 by Huntington Beach and in 1925 and 1926 by San Diego.

The results:
880 yard run—Hoover (Chaffey) first; Leiser (Chaffey) second; Jones (San Diego) third; Ruesha (Redlands) fourth. Time, 2 min., 4.8 seconds.
100 yard dash—Bear (Santa Ana) first; Griffin (San Diego) second; Edwards (Redlands) third; Burnison (Fullerton) fourth. Time, 9.9 seconds. (Record disallowed).

Pole vault—M. Moffatt (Santa Ana) first; Hearn (Santa Ana) second; Riggs (Chaffey) and Killefer (Orange) tied for third. Height, 11 feet.
Discus throw—Steiner (Chaffey) first; Millemann (Chaffey) second; Haldeman (Chaffey) third; Moffatt (Fullerton) fourth. Distance, 137 feet, 7 1-2 inches. (New Southern Counties meet record).
120 yard high hurdles—Ritchey (San Diego) first; J. Moffatt (Santa Ana) second; Hunt (El Centro) third.

Winterburn Is Visitor; Keeps Silent

"Chuck" Winterburn, former high school football coach here and now an assistant to "Pop" Warner at Stanford university, was a Santa Ana visitor today, spring vacation being on at the Palo Alto institution this week.

Winterburn refused to comment on subjects pertaining to relations between various Pacific coast colleges.

I have learned at least one thing at Stanford," he said. "The head coach does most of the talking. His assistants keep silent."

Sixty-four golfers, including virtually every ace in the membership, have signified their intention of competing in the men's division while 24 women players will battle for four awards in the feminine section of the tourney.

Players in both division were notified that at least one match must be played weekly. Rigby stated.

Six suitable prizes will be awarded in the men's section of the tourney, including awards to winners in the president's fight, winner of the defeated 16 and winner of the defeated 8 while similar presentations will be made to the best of the defeated 32, defeated 16 and defeated in the lower section.

WOULD AVERT WET-DRY FIGHT AT CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The hide of the republican elephant is tough.

It will have to be parboiled into comparative tenderness before the efforts of Nicholas Murray Butler and Senator Borah to turn the next G. O. P. national convention into a wet and dry bledam can have more effect upon it than the assault of a gentle zephyr or a granite cliff.

It may be that these two figures in the party—one cannot call them leaders—will fulfill their threats and flood the convention hall with their bursts of oratory.

But if the republican convention does anything more or less than to toss in a perfunctory plank for "law enforcement," some very significant development will have introduced itself into the situation in the meantime.

And there need be no astonishment should Senator Borah subsequently announce himself as thoroughly satisfied with just such a plank and perhaps even refer to it as a "ringing declaration of principle" or something of the sort.

Butler and Borah are individuals within the party. Their following, to all political purposes, is now insignificant. Their individualism is only more emphatically stressed by the fact that Butler, in howling at the party's indifference to prohibition and insisting that Calvin Coolidge wants but two more years in office, is unique among the brethren and that Borah, as he roars for the bone dry cause as a party policy, is equally singular.

Know What It's Like

The republicans know just what a good internal wet-dry fight is like. They saw the democrats sweat with it in New York in 1924 after they had finished their own sweet, unrolled convention with dry collars. They see it every other day in congress, as dry senators and wet senators drag out the party's dirty linen and wave it desperately. They see it raging on its merry way, month by month, as the 1928 democratic convention draws nearer.

And if there is anything that makes the stand-patters laugh more hilariously than this spectacle within the ranks of the minority party, it is the thought of a couple of party irresponsibles like Butler and Borah pushing them into the very same sort of a free-for-all.

The tacit unanimity with which the republican party had handled this prohibition question has been a revelation. There are wet republicans just as there are wet democrats—and they're politically wet, too. They make no bones whatever about making their wetness known. But just as soon as the interests of the party become involved, they automatically jam down the soft pedal and become as one with the other lambs within the fold.

There's been no Smith-McAdoo fight in the republican ranks, and any political prophet who can discern one in the future is gazing through stone walls.

Officially, and by common consent, the republican party is dry. Whether the democratic party is wet or dry may be revealed some time in 1928 and then again it may not.

Works Out Splendidly

The republicans find this situation works out splendidly. They need only nominate a candidate and the man wins. At this time they look for as large a presidential plurality in 1928 as Harding rolled up against Cox or Coolidge against Davis.

As for the presidential booms Butler and Borah are said to have started for themselves, the party's prohibition policy is almost certain automatically to dispose of both.

A great many other people have been nominated since Butler was first suggested for the distinction. Borah, too, has been with us for a long time. Nothing has happened since 1924 to enhance either's prestige and there is none for Borah, either from the party's rank and file or from its politicians. Butler is the less likely candidate and a presidential race between Borah and Al Smith or Jim Reed would be a gorgeous spectacle, but there is no indication whatever that either of these republican individualists will be totting the party's standard a year from next fall.

Whether or not Coolidge will lead the ticket is another story.

Special Rates for England Tourists

LONDON, March 21.—American tourists visiting Britain this summer will receive a warmer welcome than ever from the average Englishman.

As the result of applications connected with the "Come to Britain" movement with regard to Americans, the British railway companies have decided to reduce the fare for tours by 25 per cent.

The Englishman, who loves his week-ends in the country was glad to hear that this concession will apply to tourists generally and not only Americans. He regards it as entirely due to his American cousins that this year he will be able to make these trips more frequently.

3831 Prisoners In San Quentin

SACRAMENTO, March 21.—The month of February brought an increase of 193 patients into the state hospitals and 88 into the penal institutions, according to figures reported by E. G. Two-good, secretary of state department of institutions, San Quentin prison now has a population of 3831 within the prison walls and 165 in prison road camps. Folsom has 1940 prisoners incarcerated there and 13 on road camp duty. There are now 3105 patients in the Stockton state hospitals.

Cross Country Golfer Making Good Progress

BEAUMONT, Texas, March 21.—Doc Grahame, trailed by Happy Kirby, his caddy, knocked his golf ball into Beaumont slightly more than one month out of Mobile, bound for Los Angeles. The sun-baked pair were guests of the city police department for the night. Today they are playing exhibition matches on local links. Grahame has taken 16,952 strokes and lost 59 balls.

POLITICAL SKY IS CLOUDED BY FARM RELIEF

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The largest cloud on the political horizon just now is the farm relief issue.

The situation is worrying some leaders of both republican and democratic parties here because they fear it may cause political thunder bolts to reverberate in the presidential nominating conventions next summer.

The republicans are a little worried since President Coolidge vetoed the McNary-Haugen price stabilization bill during the closing days of the last congress, thereby assuming to himself responsibility for killing the farm relief plan championed by a formidable section of the party from the mid-west.

Puzzle to Prophets

Just how the situation will work out, however, is a puzzle to the political weather prophets.

The farm bloc warned Mr. Coolidge indirectly before he vetoed the bill that if he took such a step it would support another presidential candidate.

The veto itself immediately was answered by the Iowa legislature circulating a petition to promote the candidacy of former Governor Frank O. Lowden, republican, Illinois. The reaction, however, did not expand, either, from a belief by Lowden's friends that it was too early or by the fact that the expected furor could not be whipped up.

Friends of Mr. Coolidge claim that there was no furor because "the country generally" agreed with Mr. Coolidge's action.

Regardless of that disputed point it is now believed Mr. Coolidge will run again if a survey of the country now being made by his friends indicates he can win. If he cannot win it will be largely because of the western reaction to the farm bill veto.

Intra-Party Issue

Farm relief is chiefly a republican intra-party issue because the midwestern states involved are almost as solidly republican as the south is democratic. The farm bloc strategy will be to try to dominate the party in convention rather than flirt with the democrats.

The democrats are concerned, too, because the farm battle split their leaders. Senator James A. Reed, democrat, Missouri, considered a prospective candidate for the democratic nomination, voted against the bill and his opponents will use that fact against him if possible.

There is still a possibility that the December session of congress may do something about the situation and eliminate the hectic possibilities, but at this time the situation does not seem hopeful for the farm aid proponents.

SEEK VALUATION OF WATER FIRM

FRESNO, Calif., March 21.—An appraisal of the Fresno City Water company will be sought from the state railroad commission by the Fresno city commission so that a valuation can be obtained and be submitted to a bond issue election for public ownership of the company.

The action is necessary, city commissioners say, because officials of the water company cannot set a definite price for the company to the city.

At a meeting of the commissioners here, G. T. Chenery of New York, president of the California Water Service company, which owns the local company as well as numerous others in this state, declared that $2,540,000 had been paid for the local company. He said he thought $3,350,000 would be a fair sale price, but he refused to make the figure definite.

Diapepsin is probably the most powerful aid there is when the stomach seems worn out. It enables you to get away with foods that so often cause the utmost misery. Pie, cheese, cream, sausage, seasoned stews and foods that frighten a dyspeptic even to think of, are as modified as milk to a cooing infant when followed by a Diapepsin.

A most of people are denying themselves half the pleasures of life hunting for patent, prepared foods that don't meet their needs. For after all it is the state of the stomach secretions that counts. Diapepsin adds to the secretions and actually works on the starches, meats, eggs, cream, etc., and that is what a tired, feeble stomach needs.

SIR OLIVER LODGE HAS CANCER THEORY

LONDON, March 21.—That cancer may be a catalytic growth, involving the chemical process of catalysis, was suggested here recently by Sir Oliver Lodge.

"My suggestion," Sir Oliver declared, "must not be thought to be more than it was intended for—a hint from a layman to be taken for what it is worth. Naturally, as a layman, I speak with the greatest difficulty on a subject like cancer, but in making the suggestion I had in mind the chemical action which has been shown to occur in radio valves.

"They are liable to a kind of disease which is caused by the action of water and it may be that something similar is going on in the body and causing cancer."

Prominent cancer specialists do not take Sir Oliver's suggestion seriously. The general opinion is that the suggestion is novel and interesting, but that there is no evidence to support such a theory.

It is pointed out that catalysis is the chemical process involving the decomposition of a compound substance and the recombination of its elements.

Black Evangelist Lives In Poverty

CAPE PALMAS, Liberia, March 21.—The mysterious "Black Elijah," who converted more than 100,000 negroes and founded more than 200 churches in central and western Africa, has been found living in solitude and poverty.

For many years, missionaries have come across secluded tribes who scarcely ever had seen a white man, yet professed the Christian faith. They always said they had been baptized by "Prophet Harris," venerable negro, who was converted more than a score of years ago and received some education in mission schools.

White religious workers, searching for the evangelist, finally found him in the village of Half Graway, where he says he will die soon.

FIND STONE AGE RELICS

ZURICH, March 21.—Hidden caves containing prehistoric relics of three distinct ages—stone, bronze and iron ages—have been found in the forests of Felsburg. Archaeologists have found pottery, quartz implements, bronze jewelry and weapons fashioned from bone. A fireplace had been built in one of the caves.

A full-grown elephant is capable of carrying a two-ton load on his back.

THE FARMERS, fruit growers and foresters of this country know too little about birds. City folks know even less, but their loss is just as tangible and real as the farmers' financial loss. All should know more about our birds and their great worth in stimulating our finer emotions—also their economic value.

Insect pests cause an annual loss of $200,000,000 to the cereal crop of this country, according to the statistics of the agricultural department. They cost cotton growers an average of $60,000,000 a year and timber interests $100,000,000. The total annual loss of farm and forest products of all kinds is estimated at $520,000,000. That is a sum which should command attention.

That vast loss can be largely avoided. Here is where the birds come in, or would come in if farmers and others appreciated them properly and gave them a chance. Each individual insectivorous bird will consume, at a conservative estimate, 100 of these destroying insects a day. Investigation in Massachusetts has placed the average of insectivorous birds at five to the acre. Thus the state's 8,000 square miles has a useful bird population of not less than 56,000,000. The daily fare should require 2,560,000,000 insects, or 21,000 bushels of destructive pests. Birds should be conserved and attracted by more rigid protective laws, by closer study and effort at conservation.

Beginning today, and continuing for 48 shopping days, we will wrap with each loaf of Kilpatrick's Bread a beautiful bird picture—a different kind every day.

Be sure that you get the first picture and continue each day until you have collected the entire series. Then bring them to your grocer and you will get a bird album containing the complete series with an interesting description of the birds, their habits, etc.

Children will be especially interested in collecting these pictures and it will prove to be a very good education for them. So don't miss any of them, girls and boys, and if you get the entire set you may exchange them for an album—something that you will be glad to have in your library.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST Jesus Transfigured

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY
DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
SKETCHES BY KROESEN

A Gentile woman besought Jesus to heal her daughter. To test her faith, Jesus said he was "sent unto the Jews" and that it was not "meet to take the children's bread and cast it to dogs." But the woman said, "Truth, Lord, yet the dogs eat of the crumbs that fall from their masters' table." (Matthew XV : 22-27)

Jesus commended her faith and her daughter was made whole from that very hour. (Matthew XV : 28)

Jesus foretells to the disciples his sufferings, death and his resurrection at Jerusalem. (Matthew XVI : 21)

The Saviour, taking Peter, James and John into a mountain with him, is transfigured in glory before them, and their faith was strengthened by the vision. (Matthew XVII : 1-9)

"From the day I was fortunate enough to line up with Tanlac," says Mr. Emil Langhans, ex-cavalryman and retired customs official, "it has kept my health and strength up to highest standard."

Sitting in his comfortable home at 2219 197th Avenue, Oakland, Calif., Mr. Langhans told how Tanlac had rebuilt strength and vigor for himself and his charming wife. "Tanlac worked wonders for my wife," he said. "She had suffered from high blood pressure, neuritis and general run-down condition. Tanlac relieved her."

"I had static rheumatism—suffered for five years with it—so that I could sleep but little, on account of the pain. Kidney trouble, indigestion and loss of appetite had reduced my strength to a low ebb. "Since taking Tanlac my health, as well as that of my wife, has been remarkable. Though I am retired, I could resume my old work any time. No rheumatism—nor kidney trouble—in past two years. I never miss an opportunity to praise Tanlac."

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"The Tinites left the dish and spoon, and walked away 'til pretty soon they reached a funny little house with door swung open wide. Said Scouty, 'Say, I wonder who is living here. I wish I knew. If it is someone friendly, I would like to go inside.'"

But Coppy snapped, "We'd best beware, and wait 'til we are asked in there. It never is polite to walk right into some one's home. Let's sit out here and rest a bit, 'til all of us are feeling fit. I'd really rather loaf a while and rest myself, than roam."

The other Tinites quite agreed and all of them showed lots of speed in going to a nearby tree where there was lots of shade. A dandy spot was shortly found. They squatted down upon the ground. And then they quickly realized how hard they all had played.

In just about an hour or two a little shrill voice said, "Yoo, hoo," and looking over toward the house, they saw a little boy. He waved and they began to grin. "Come over here and walk right in," And, were the Tinites tickled? Why, they all were filled with joy!

To get there first, each Tiny tried, and when they all were far inside, they found the little youngster sitting calmly on the floor. Said he, "Just kindly wait 'til I have finished with the Christmas Pie. I'd gladly offer you some, but there isn't any more."

Then, in the pie he stuck his thumb, and with a jerk pulled out a plum. "Oh, I know who you are, young man," said Scouty very loud. "You're wee Jack Horner. That's my guess." "Hurrah! You're right, so I'll confess," replied the boy, and then he said, "To meet you I am proud."

BEAUTY CHATS
EDNA KENT FORBES
TINTED NAILS

In these days of artificial styles of clothing and hairdressing it is perfectly proper that the finger nails should look as artificial as the rest of the costume. Indeed you may say that they should look artificial; if not they'll look crude. Think how odd naturally dressed hair or an unpowdered skin would look with the elaborate artificiality of Eighteenth century costume! In those days they powdered their hair and dressed it in the most elaborate style, they painted their faces, rouged their lips and cheeks and painted their finger nails. Today we've got back to an artificiality of a different sort. Powder is necessary, a little rouge is excusable, unnaturally pink finger nails are simply a part of the picture.

It is no longer a question of approving or disapproving or saying that a painted face or painted finger nails betokens immorality, it's a matter of good taste. If you're not entirely sure how far you may go, tint your nails to a shade that looks as though it couldn't naturally be as pink as you make it but that it just might be. In other words, if the shade is impossible pink, then you've passed the limits of good taste.

A word about these nail tints. You will find dozens to choose from. Some varieties, which I confess I prefer, tint the nails a rather nice pink and give them an artificial polish which gradually washes off, so that by the end of the day the nails are quite free of any sort of stain. There are other varieties of enamel which do not wear off for weeks, then turn brown and begin to scale off and have to be removed with a regular nail polish solvent. If you use this kind keep a solvent handy and renew the polish at least once a week. Once a month preferably give the nails a couple of weeks rest from this artificial skin while you have been painting over it.

Worried—Your blackheads are really no worse when you use the cream, they only appear so because you have opened the enlarged pores and have had a chance to really see what is being imprisoned therein. A good treatment would be to soften all these impacts by massaging cleansing cream into the skin, and then scrub with very warm water and castile soap. Rinse with cool and then cold water.

Don't over do this.

Repeat this treatment every day, and if your skin feels dry afterward, go over it with your finger tips on which is a very little bit of fine cream.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

According to an old English superstition, when children of both sexes were brought to the font at once, the boy must precede the girl; otherwise she would be in danger of having a beard when she grew up.

Just Folks

A LOVE SCENE

He held her hand and sighed a sigh,
She turned her head away,
And you must know as well as I
What he was due to say.
A robin twittered in the tree
This old-familiar sight to see.
The south wind knew what he would say,
A white cloud drifting by,
A squirrel on the lawn at play,
A sea-gull from the sky
That scene had often looked upon
And knew just what was going on.

"Behold those lovers sitting there!"
Said someone in a car.
The tall policeman saw the pair
And thought: "How glad they are!"
I think the very bench of wood
This hour of rapture understood.
All nature and all human-kind
That chanced to pass that way
Knew what was on that young man's mind
And what he soon would say
But when he said it, I'm advised
The maiden seemed to be surprised.

Queer Quirks of
- NATURE -

A BIRD EXAMPLE OF PATIENCE

By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.

Whenever your store of patience seems exhausted and you grow tired of waiting, picture for yourself a quiet pond, and near the shore a grey bird, still as a statue—and waiting.

Perhaps he has stood there an hour, in the cold water, waiting for his dinner. Then of a sudden his long neck stretches and his slim head darts into the water; with his sharp beak he takes his prey, some fish who has been deceived by the immovability of the bird, and his patience finally rewards him with his dinner.

This bird is the Great Blue Heron, largest of all the truly American herons, and found in suitable localities throughout the United States. A nest is frequently built in the top of a lofty tree, and commonly consists of a huge mass of sticks, accumulated through years, and lined with twigs; in it are laid from four to six sea-green eggs.

The heron, although measuring about three feet from the bill to the tail, and having an average wing expanse of some six feet, weighs only between three and four pounds. The eyes of the heron are an unusual feature; they are set somewhat beneath on the sloping sides of the head, so that without effort he can watch the water beneath his feet.

Family

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Apples, cereal cooked with dates, country sausage, cornmeal pancakes, new maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Barley and mushroom soup, croquettes, lettuce sandwiches, cream puffs, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked stuffed sea bass, grilled sweet potatoes, stuffed Bermuda onions, rhubarb tapioca pudding, bran rolls, milk, coffee.

Children under six years of age will find a breakfast of fruit, cereal and crisp toast quite sufficient without the sausage and pancakes suggested for adults.

The cream puffs used for luncheon should be filled with a rich boiled custard in order to provide the required protein calories.

Barley and Mushroom Sauce
One-half cup pearl barley, 1-4 cups water, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 1 blade celery, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 4 tablespoons minced green pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-2 cup chopped fresh mushrooms or 2 tablespoons crushed dried mushrooms, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Soak barley for one hour in water to cover. Cook in water until very soft. Put onion, carrot and celery through food chopper. The pepper can also be chopped this way after removing seeds and white inside membrane. It will take about 1-2 of one pepper. Melt butter, add vegetables and stir and cook until vegetables are slightly brown. Stir in butter and when mixture is thoroughly blended add to barley. Add crushed mushrooms, salt and pepper. Cover kettle and simmer 45 minutes longer. Rub through a strainer and serve. If fresh mushrooms are used, saute them in butter with vegetables.

During Crises
Parents Should Share Moral Burdens

By Olive Roberts Barton

Is it fair for one parent to take all the moral responsibility in regard to the physical and mental welfare of the children?

Sometimes, in a crisis, a decision has to be made. It may be a matter of an operation. It may be a matter of calling upon the child to make a sacrifice. It may be a matter of reproof or punishment or any of the thousand problems that come up in his training.

When I say moral responsibility, I mean just that. Moral responsibility is the responsibility that takes courage to back it.

Often one parent is apt to dodge the issue. He or she slips out from under and allows the other one to handle the situation alone.

I have in mind the case of a child who was ailing and whose parents had been told by specialists that an operation was necessary.

The father refused to give his consent. The mother also refused. Time went on. The child got worse—still a refusal.

In time it became a matter of the child's very life—the focus of infection would have to be found and removed.

The father still refused because he knew in his heart that the mother would give her consent in the face of his opposition. Here would be the responsibility if things went wrong. He was too cowardly to back her up.

The child did have the operation—and died! And the mother is held up to this day, by the father, as a murderess. Where he should have shared the responsibility, he refused and now he is being beastly cruel about the consequences.

It is of course not always so drastic. It is not always a case of life and death. But the principle is there.

Parents should stand shoulder to shoulder in a crisis. They should talk things over and if things do go wrong, there is no one to blame.

RODGERS HITS HOMER IN 9TH TO WIN GAME

"Scrappy Joe" Rodgers has played a lot of baseball and has contributed his share for countless victories but he never came through in a pinch more satisfactorily than yesterday when he hit a homer in the last of the ninth with two teammates lurking on the pathways and with the Republic Supply company training the White Mysteries two runs.

Rodgers' potent poke cleared the railroad tracks at the Huntington Beach diamond and brought in the three scores that gave the Orange County Harbor league champions a 10 to 9 decision over the Mysteries.

"Wheeler Dell, erstwhile big leaguer, was on the knoll for the visitors and was hit hard as was Herb Salveson, the Republic Supply gunner.

Rodgers hit his first circuit blow in the first round and Perry Callahan's Ruthian wallop with L. Daley on in the third put the Huntington Beach delegation three ahead.

The White Mysteries pushed two around in the fourth when Bourg homered over the center field wall, after Brugge walked.

Passes to Dietzel and Ed Daley, a single by L. Daley and Callahan's triple, unloading the sacks, gave the Republic Supplies three in their half of the same span. The Mysteries got two of them back in the fifth only to have Earl Hrig connect for a home run in the last of the round.

Salveson weakened in the seventh and eighth and the visitors came from behind with a rush, making three in the seventh to tie matters and going off in front in the eighth with two additional counts.

Rodgers' homer, winning the tussle, came in the last of the closing frame after Salveson had walked, Callahan had doubled and Beeson had forced Salveson at the plate.

Next Sunday the Huntington Beach club will battle the Los Angeles Fire department club. The box score:

with the Cardinals. Some were still disgruntled as the result of the distribution of world series tickets.

However, I look for the supporters of both teams to be on hand in large numbers, provided they win.

EFFICIENCY MOVE
Manager Dan Howley denies there was any desire to try to win popular appeal by signing the discarded Cardinal coaches. It was simply an efficiency move.

"A great catcher in his day, a successful manager, I know of no man who could be of greater aid to me in rebuilding the Browns than Bill Killefer," says Dan.

"Pitching is the most uncertain feature of the Browns. If any man can help my pitchers, particularly the youngsters, it is Killefer."

Rogers Hornsby made a similar statement to me at San Antonio last spring and there is no getting away from the fact the Bill Killefer produced results for the Cardinals.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

NEW DISTRICT ATTRACTS H. B. OIL OPERATORS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 21.—The continued progress of drilling in the outpost well of the San Martinez Oil company at Ninth street and Ocean avenue in the town-plot field at Huntington Beach is leading the operators, who have been watching the situation with great interest for the past month, to the conclusion that the much-discussed showings of this well at 3150 feet could not have been so favorable as was generally supposed at the time. Reports concerning the well are highly contradictory, the pessimists asserting that it has penetrated only about 200 feet of sand showing heavy oil with little chance for profitable production, and the optimists declaring that it has been drilling in oil sand all the way from 3150 feet to its present bottom of 4100 feet.

Continued lack of definite assurance as to what the San Martinez has or has not found, and the additional circumstances that property owners in Huntington Beach have been getting more ambitious in their ideas of what their land is worth, has caused a substantial let-down in leasing activity there, which has not been helped by the Superior Oil company's surrender of the largest single lease in the entire city.

Interest seems to be swinging to the district nearest of the city, where several of the large companies, and also smaller operators, have been leasing acreage in the vicinity of the Huntington Beach cemetery.

BUENA PARK, March 21.—Two bond elections for public improvements estimated to cost $34,000, have been called for April 25. Trustees of the local grammar school have issued an order for a bond election to vote $43,000 to purchase a school site and the sanitary board of the Buena Park district has voted to call a bond election the same date to raise $60,000 for the construction of a sewer disposal plant.

The proposed school site is located north of the Southern Pacific railroad tracks between Lansdowne and Homewood. A grammar school is to be erected on the property as soon as it is acquired. The rapid growth of Buena Park has caused an urgent need for new school accommodations, according to school trustees. The present school is crowded, it is said.

Buena Park plans to purchase an interest in the joint outfall sewer used by a number of Orange county cities under the bond issue to be voted upon April 25, in addition to constructing a disposal plant. The bond issue will cover the cost of an outfall line to connect with the outfall sewer trunk. This city does not have a sewer system at the present time. 20,000-GALLON GASOLINE PLANT IS PROJECTED FOR HUNTINGTON BEACH FIELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 21.—A gasoline plant with capacity of more than 20,000 gallons per day will be constructed here in the near future by the Standard Engineering company, it was announced today.

The location has not yet been selected. The Standard Engineering company is a newcomer in the local field. The company has secured control of a large amount of gas rights in the local oil field.

Gasoline produced by the refining company is sold to the Richfield Oil company and to the Marine Refining company, according to reports. It is expected that the Richfield Oil company will take all of the gasoline manufactured at the new plant here.

The Standard Engineering company has gasoline plants in California and Wyoming, and as soon as it finishes the construction of the local plant, the firm will build another plant near Ventura. A third gasoline plant is being considered for the Alhambra heights district of Long Beach, it is reported.

ORANGE, March 21.—Qualified electors of the Orange school district have been asked by the grammar school board to gather at the intermediate school on April 4 at 7 p. m., to discuss the desirability of building to replace the present Lemon street school, which was declared obsolete several months ago by George Sherwood, city school superintendent.

That the need for the new building is unquestioned, and that the only things to be decided by the electors is where the building should be built and of what type of construction it should be, was the opinion expressed by members of the board.

PROPOSES TO BE BRITISH DICTATOR

LONDON, March 21.—An "Influenza dictator" for the British Isles was the suggestion put forward here recently by Dr. S. O. Damoglou, famous Paris physician.

During a lecture to prominent London doctors Dr. Damoglou urged a national campaign in Great Britain, led by himself, against influenza. The task, he said, would consist principally of special treatment of complicated cases in isolated hospitals and prevention of a spread of the disease by giving him dictatorial powers.

At the end of the lecture the chairman, an English doctor, pointed out that the medical profession believed in making known any discoveries and cures that would benefit humanity and asked Dr. Damoglou what special cure he possessed that would justify his being made "dictator."

Dr. Damoglou retorted that during a war one did not ask a general what his plans were. The meeting took no action on the suggestion.

The nursery itself is decorated in blue, one of the favorite colors of the Duchess of York.

When the weather is good, the baby princess is taken across the park to enjoy the sunshine of Hyde park, or to the palace gardens behind the palace.

PICTURE WRITING, THEN AND NOW

In an ancient cave in an Arkansas state park have been discovered rudely-daubed pictures, painted on the rocks many centuries ago by some Indian scribe or other whose very tribe is now forgotten.

Scientists say these pictures are a kind of writing, put down as some sort of message or record for succeeding generations. They are trying now to decipher them.

It's an interesting affair. Perhaps this picture writing contains a bit of old Indian history, recording the adventures of some dusky nation centuries before Columbus came. Perhaps it tells some chapter in Indian theology, or notes some early scientific discovery.

No matter. It isn't the only bit of picture writing that lies about us, waiting to be interpreted. No man ever expressed his inner thought as clearly as he wished; no man ever was able to present his own visions to his fellow men in just the way he himself saw them.

All writing, from twentieth century free verse back to Homer, is alike in that respect: it is the more or less successful effort of a dreamer or a poet or a seer to record for posterity his conception of the power and the glory in which life is envolved.

Shakespeare had his vision of life, and all his plays represent his attempt to reveal it to us. Milton, too, had his vision, and Bunyan and Shelley and tortured, cynical Swift, and Whitman and Tolstoy; and all left picture writings, as it were, to make it plain to us.

One saw life as a pageant begirt with splendor and suffering and hope; another conceived it as a long fight between the sons of light and the powers of darkness; another could see only a painful, hopeless pilgrimage through a vale of woe and denial; another envisioned an everlasting revolt, begirt with beauty and majesty. No two saw it the same.

These are our picture writings. They wait, between book covers, for each of us to decipher as best he can. No longer are we rude savages, squinting in the dusk at red daubs on a bare rock and spelling out their meaning; our picture writing is traced by high artists on lofty canvases.

Yet we are akin to these forgotten red men. We, like them, find life full of puzzles and contradictions that we do not understand. And, like them, we turn to our picture writings for guidance.

SAVING THE EYES

The Massachusetts state board of optometry advises radio fans to close their eyes while listening, and thus conserve their eyesight. It will probably be a new idea to the fans that they have been listening with their eyes as well as their ears.

The specialists also recommend closing the eyes occasionally while listening to a concert or a speaker. Besides relaxing the eyes, that aids in thought concentration. In reading a book, it is advisable to stop and close the eyes for a couple of minutes every 10 or 20 pages.

The point is that the eyes are subjected to greater strain in most people than any other organs of the body. That not only affects them directly but disturbs the nervous system and causes headache.

Most people use their eyes a great deal more than they need to—not necessarily in reading too much, but in moving the organs continually, and thus tiring them, when a more deliberate and intelligent use would keep them fresh and fit.

One common abuse of the eyes is to turn them directly upon every object, near or far, in which a person happens to be interested, thus imposing a continual strain upon the muscles moving the eyeballs and those focusing the lenses, and also upon the focal center of the retina, or inner nerve, at the back of the eye.

Most things can be seen well enough for practical purposes without turning and focussing the eyes directly upon them. This restful trick of seeing what is going on without shifting the eyes is especially useful in driving an automobile.

CHINESE NATIONALISM

"All the combined power of the west," declares Senator Borah, when asked about conditions in China, "cannot shoot the newly awakened nationalism out of that country."

We should hope not. The strangest thing about the recent Chinese situation has been the apparent efforts of the western powers to suppress the one thing needed by China to reanimate that vast country and make it fill a useful place in the world. And this in spite of the fact that the powers have always professed to desire the development of Chinese nationality.

Even America has seemed, by her acquiescence, to be helping in the wet-blanketing of Chinese aspirations. What good can a dead China be to us? Do we want a national corpse fronting us across the Pacific, or a great, living democracy friendly to ours?

MISUSED GUNS AND GARAGES

As long as there are guns there will probably be accidental killings with guns which one person or another thinks not loaded. These will go on in spite of many warnings and tragic examples, because a few people in every community insist on being foolish.

In the same way, too, in spite of widespread warnings, people continue to kill themselves by running their automobiles in closed garages, thus surrounding themselves with the deadly fumes of carbon monoxide.

Here and there, through the world, there are people who do sometimes heed a timely warning. For their protection it is worth while to keep hammering away at fool things like the "unloaded" gun and the closed garage.

A VENERABLE JURIST

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, "dean" of the United States Supreme Court, on his 86th birthday finds himself laden with national honors, richly deserved.

By general consent, this elderly gentleman, son of the original Oliver Wendell Holmes, and no less beloved than his famous father, is rated as the foremost living American jurist. And this not on the basis of past work, done in middle life, but on the solid basis of the work he is still doing. It seems to be the literal truth that Justice Holmes' prime of life is now. No other member of the Supreme court, it is said, does more work or better work. No other seems to have the facility of this octogenarian in digesting a difficult case and writing his opinion.

When asked recently when he expected to resign, he replied: "Not until the Almighty himself requests it."

The Almighty is evidently reluctant to part with so useful a servant.

SENSIBLE GEESE

Jack Miner, Canadian nature-lover, had a theory that he could save the wild goose from suffering extinction like the carrier pigeon. His idea was to establish a place in the northern woods as a refuge, and feed the birds in times of food scarcity. He was told that the geese didn't know enough to take advantage of a sanctuary, and besides, they wouldn't stay anywhere near human beings.

Miner went right ahead in a characteristic way, and showed he was right. The sanctuary he has established at Kingsville has won international fame. From it the wild geese go forth, often carrying leg-bands bearing his Scripture texts, traveling far to the south, returning again every year in great numbers. Sometimes the homing flocks darken the sky around his cabin.

Wild birds in general and wild animals, too, are usually far shrewder than they are given credit for. They soon learn where it is safe for them to go, and who their friends are. Every sanctuary for wild life ever established shows that. Feeding stations set up in winter show it. So the refuges are increasing every year, in the United States and Canada, and those who treat their wild friends humanely are richly repaid for their trouble.

Mexico's Opportunity

Pasadena Star-News
General Obregon is elected to be the next President of Mexico. The General served one term as chief executive of his country, and his administration was generally acceptable both at home and abroad. Obregon is a business man as well as a soldier. He understands his neighbors to the north, and his neighbors understand him more thoroughly than they have been able to understand his successor. General Obregon frequently comes to California on business connected with the development of his extensive holdings on the Mexican west coast. He is marketing his produce here, and he has displayed noble initiative and enterprise in "selling" not only his own goods but confidence in Mexico.

General Obregon is particularly concerned in the opening of harbors at Yavaros and Mazatlan. While only in small volume thus far, trade is developing between the Mexican west coast and Long Beach. This trade will be encouraged by the very activities which General Obregon is carrying on, and there is good reason to wish him success in his endeavors. This reason is not selfish in a narrow sense, because peace and progress are factors greatly to be desired, and it is believed that under another regime with General Obregon at its head, Mexico and the United States will find their bond strengthened.

Whether under General Obregon as their next President or under some other leader, the Mexican people are facing a wonderful opportunity for the advancement of their country's interest and their own prosperity.

May Get Both Conventions

Pasadena Star-News
Fifteen months hence the two great national political conventions will be assembling to name Presidential candidates. The time soon will pass. Already preliminary skirmishes are being waged in behalf of a sundry list of prospective candidates. Convention cities are being considered seriously now. There is strong probability that both the Republican and the Democratic national meetings will be held west of the Alleghenies. The agricultural states are in ferment of political unrest. Both parties will be striving for favor in the granger states next year. This inclines students of politics to believe that the great political conventions next year both will be held in the Mid-West. Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis are being considered.

California may not be able to land both or either of the great party assemblages next year. But it is well worth trying, in order to keep the enterprise, push and hospitality of this state before the leaders of both of the great parties, and to keep impressed upon them the fact that Los Angeles and San Francisco are admirably equipped with auditorium and hotel accommodations to take care of the biggest of national conventions.

SKIN IS GOOD INDEX TO CONDITION OF HEALTH

There was a time when the skin was considered merely a covering for the human body. It is now recognized that the skin is an organ in much the same manner as any other organ of the body, that the blood circulates in it, that nerve endings are present among its cells, and that in many ways the skin is a mirror of the human body, or as Williams has called it, an "index of health."

It must be remembered, however, that medicine has advanced greatly since the time when disease was diagnosed by a look at the skin and a look at the tongue.

Nowadays skin appearances may be deceiving; many a person, especially many a woman, may have what is merely the appearance of health, a sort of camouflage which disappears when the face is washed in the evening.

A good skin is one that is fairly firm, that does not sag, that is free from pimples, that does not scale away, and which secretes sufficient oil or perspiration to keep it flexible. In the care of the skin, bathing should be sufficiently frequent to keep the skin clean.

The presence of pimples, blackheads or other blemishes is usually an indication that the skin is not kept clean and the body itself is not in the best possible state. Treatment must therefore be applied both to the skin and to the interior of the body.

If the skin is unusually dry, it may be made more flexible by the use of greasy or oily preparations, such as cold creams and oils. If it is unusually oily, it will require more frequent washing with proper soaps, and a competent physician will determine whether or not the metabolism of the body is just what it should be.

The modern physician makes no objection to a suitable use of powder and simple cold creams, or even of pure rouges or other cosmetics. He objects definitely to the use of poisonous products containing dangerous chemicals that are not declared on the label.

He objects to disfigurement with rouges that constitute essentially the same type of advertisement of moral laxity that was used by certain classes of society in ancient Greece and Rome. He disapproves the devotion of what should be a useful life to the art of make-up.

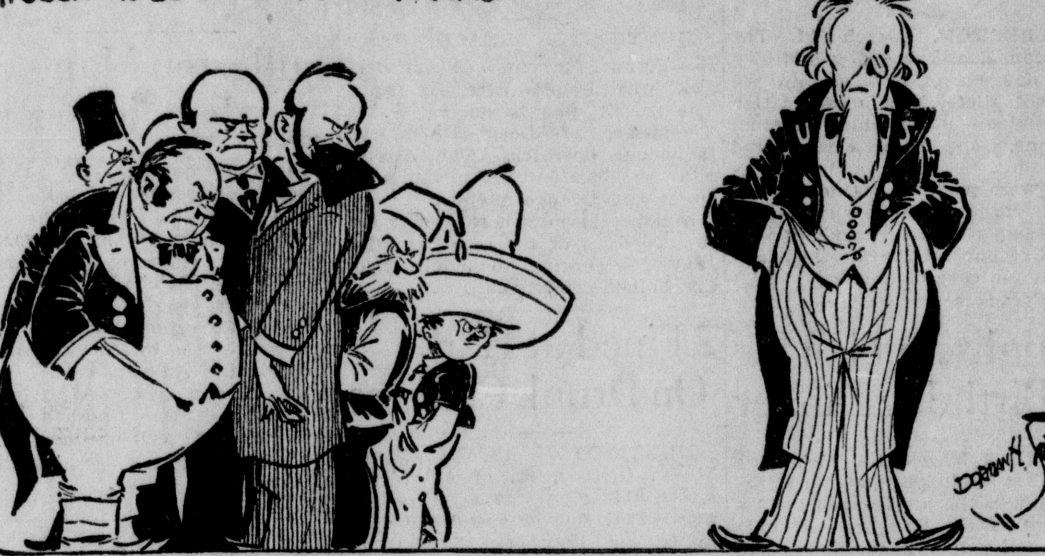

He feels about the skin as about much of the rest of the body, that given ordinary care it will present a satisfactory appearance, and that given too much attention, it may be the basis for psychosis.

Woods and Fishes Not
As They Used to Be

San Bernardino Sun

A city man who recently went back to visit the farm where he grew up was disappointed in the stream that flowed across the place. It was much smaller than it used to be. Worse still, there were no fish in it. When a boy, he used to catch lots of fish there. Now, though the vicinity was as rural as ever, and there was no pollution in the stream, he found no fish at all.

"Were the banks wooded when you were a boy?" asked a naturalist whom he had asked for an explanation.

"Yes, they were. There were plenty of fine, big shade trees, and the big pools where we looped suckers were well shaded. But now the trees are all gone."

"Your question is answered," said the naturalist. "The rains come as usual, but there are no trees to develop the moss and vegetable mold in the soil and let the water drain gradually into the creek, as it used to. It all goes into the stream with a rush, and carries off from the creek bed the vegetation and food on which the fish used to live. In flood times, too, the fishes' egg nests are washed away. So it becomes harder and harder for them to exist there. Naturally they give up. The survivors drift down stream and never come back."

Which is just one more little reason for not deforesting the land. Why not leave trees along the streams, at least, if they must be cut everywhere else?

Worth While Verse

FROM LOCKSLEY HALL

For I dipped into the future, far as human eye could see,
Saw the Vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be;

Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;

Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue;

Far along the world-wide whisper of the south wind rushing warm,
With the standards of the peoples plunging through the thunder storm;

Till the war drum throbbed no longer, and the battle flags were unfurled
In the Parliament of Man, the Federation of the World.

There the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe,
And the kindly earth shall slumber, wrapped in universal law.

—Alfred Tennyson.

Sounds paradoxical, but no woman can hold her own in a battle of tongues.

The Teacher and the Public

The Journal of the National Educational Association

This editorial is about teachers. It is printed in a teachers periodical. But it is for the public. We hope it may be reprinted in many newspapers. It deals with a matter that concerns the public tremendously—the kind of men and women they bring into the lives of boys and girls. Everyone who looks back over his life recalls a few people who inspired him, lifted him to new heights, awakened new powers, opened doors, made opportunity seem a living fire. These were his teachers whether he found them in school or out. To multiply the number of these radiant personalities in the schoolroom is the biggest single task ahead of organized society. To draw into the schools the best talent and to make teaching a solid, substantial profession in every community is a vital challenging task to this generation. All this can be done if teaching is recognized at its true value to the community. How shall it be recognized?

First, higher salaries. Society cannot afford to have teachers live cramped lives. It cannot afford to have poverty in their souls. It is poor policy to pay more to the people who clothe, feed, haul, and amuse us than we pay to the people who open the doors of opportunity and growth. Teachers should be paid as well as lawyers, doctors, and engineers are paid. If they have not the training to command that reward they should be encouraged to obtain it. Such a salary schedule must mean for many small communities that the teacher will be the highest paid person there since teachers are more numerous than any other professional group. In the long run society gets what it pays for. If it really believes that life is more important than things, then it should be willing to pay the people who mold life at least as much as it pays the people who make things. Material wealth has increased rapidly in America during recent decades and no group has done more to make this increase possible than teachers. On one hand they have helped to elevate habits of living and on the other they have prepared youth for increasingly efficient service.

Second, tenure. February is a good time to talk about tenure. In the vast areas where teachers are hired from year to year, February marks the beginning of the annual unrest. It is an insidious, gnawing cancer in the vitals of educational efficiency. Teachers hesitate to plan either their personal affairs or their school work for a future which is uncertain. Early elections help but they do not solve the problem. They do not enable teachers to buy homes and accept responsibility for community enterprises which require several years of continuous effort. The only ultimate answer is indefinite tenure during satisfactory service. It may not be possible to get the whole way at once, but first steps may be taken. Among first steps are these. Abolish laws that restrict the power of boards to elect for more than one year. Increase the period of election from one to two, three, or five years as training and proved ability increase. Develop units of administration, large enough to make possible the transfer of teachers in accordance with personal and community needs. Grant indefinite tenure to teachers who have had full professional training plus a reasonable "internship." The details can be worked out in each state or city. The important thing is the vision to make a start as many communities have already done.

Third, retirement. Infirmary and decrepitude do not belong in the schoolroom. Children are normally vigorous and buoyant. They love energy and action. Society cannot afford to put feebleness on the frontier of childhood. There is more tragedy here than the public knows. School officers are too frequently having to choose between the welfare of children and the needs of aged teachers who must live. Low salaries in past years have left many veterans in the service who must face want unless provision is made for them. They should not haunt the schoolrooms when they have become too weak to carry the load. They should not be cast out to neglect and oblivion. There is a better way. That better way is sound systems of teacher retirement.

Fourth, and finally, training. It has been asserted that George Washington was killed by his doctors. They did the best they knew in a day when people were bled for pneumonia. Doctor training then was where teacher training now is. Some day we shall look back upon the present inadequate training among teachers with something of a shudder as we now contemplate the fate of Washington at the hands of his well meaning physicians. Teaching is the most intricate of the sciences and the noblest of the arts. A person who does well with meager training would do world's better with generous training.

Now the man in the street often thinks of education as drill in the petty accuracies of certain school studies. He is willing to employ a teacher if he can keep order and conduct this drill. If he happens to be a member of a school board he is willing to hire a cheap teacher to replace one with more training. Every such act is a crime against childhood.

In a crisis parents will give all they have for their children. They will make the most gruelling sacrifices. During college years they will do without necessities that sons and daughters may keep up the pace. But when it comes to employing well trained teachers for the epochal early childhood years when the very foundations are being laid in character values, they will strain at a few dollars.

Mr. Taxpayer, don't do it. A large inheritance will profit your children little if the early foundations are weak. "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

The Correspondence School

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

EARLY man invented writing when he began to use signs and marks instead of drawing pictures to convey his ideas. From crude signs developed the hieroglyphic writing composed of definite symbols to represent objects. The invention of an alphabet was first made by the Egyptians as early as 3000 B. C. and has been used ever since. The child repeats this history to a certain degree for he first draws pictures, then makes marks which mean things to him, and finally he learns to write by use of the alphabet, and what joy is his when at last he can write his name!

A MONKEY on a grapevine swing
Got tired of just monkeying;
And so developed the obsession
To undertake some nice profession.
He thought and thought for most a year
Then got this extra fine idea,—
A Traveling Correspondence School
Where writing things would be the rule!

He got Jimima Elephant
To take some stock in his new stunt.
She said she'd furnish transportation
If she could have two weeks' vacation.
Then, too, besides to eat and smell,
Her trunk would make a grand ink well,
And they got Porky Porcupine
To furnish quills for pens just fine.

So Porky and the Monkey-Monk
Took seats upon Jimima's trunk,
And all the jungle folk inviting
They gathered quite a class for writing.
Poll Parrott and Sir Jaguar
Were quite the lightest ones by far.
Bill Lion thought it such a lark
He raved and roared when it got dark.

'Twas fine till poor Jimima sneezed
And showered ink o'er all the trees,
She gave old Porky such a fright
He shot his quills both left and right
And frightened Monk to such extent
A-sliding down her trunk he went.
Which, landing him right in a pool,
Broke up the Correspondence School!
